

Blasts Damage Federal Building at Washington D.C.

Fire Breaks Out And Employes in P. O. Department Flee Into Streets

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(P)—Fire, accompanied by a rumbling series of explosions, caused heavy damage to the $11,000,000 Postoffice Department building today and sent hundreds of government employes fleeing to the streets.

The blaze was confined to the eighth floor. But before firemen brought it under control, they poured tons of water into the columned, limestone structure on Pennsylvania Avenue between 12th and 13th streets, Northwest.

Smoke and water damage was heavy. There was no immediate official estimate of the loss, but a somewhat similar fire in 1935—soon after the building was constructed—caused $400,000 damage.

Twelve persons were treated at emergency hospital for injuries. They all had cuts or bruises from flying glass and debris. A section of the seventh floor ceiling fell in, injuring some. None was hurt seriously.

Robert Farrington, an Associated Press reporter, got a bad cut on the shoulder. A glass door behind him was blown out on the 7th floor while he was telephoning a report on the fire to his office.

Firemen Injured
Three firemen were taken to emergency hospital. They were overcome by smoke while fighting the blaze.

The building houses several agencies in addition to the Post-office Department.

Martin Levy, Federal Communications Commission lawyer, said the building was shaken heavily by the initial explosion. "They felt like an earthquake," Levy said. "The ceiling in my seventh floor office fell in. Plaster hit me on the shoulder but I wasn't hurt, and got out by breaking a glass pane in the door."

Firemen said the blaze apparently began in an electrical transformer room. The first sign of trouble was a flickering of lights.

Courtyard Is Littered
The Postoffice building encloses a grassy courtyard. This was littered with plate glass and papers blown from the upper floors. Some of the glass was blown 200 feet.

One mail carrier said several people were walking across the open courtyard when the blast came.

"I was one of them," he said. "But no one was hurt, because we all got the hell out of there."

Even after the fire was under control, firemen still were trying to determine whether anyone was trapped at any place in the building.

There were reports that a woman was caught in an elevator between floors when the power failed with the first blast.

More than 30 pieces of fire fighting equipment were called into play. Using extension ladders, firemen took three people from the eighth floor.

Efforts to remove one man from the eighth floor were blocked by heavy ornamental bars. He was passed a smoke mask.

First district inspector W. B. Kelly said that the roof caved in on the eighth floor on the Pennsylvania and 12th street side of the building. He said that he was (Please turn to Page 4, Column 5)

Gets Oil After Ten Years Try

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 1.—(P)—F. C. (Bob) Miller, St. Joseph oil prospector, has struck oil in Richardson county, Nebr., after ten years of fruitless drilling in northwest Missouri.

Miller said yesterday his well indicated production of 200 barrels a day.

After drilling dry holes in Buchanan, Holt and DeKalb counties in Missouri since 1939, Miller and some associates from Mound City, Mo., crossed the Missouri river into southeastern Nebraska and chose a spot south of the Barada pool.

Prospectors originally ignored the area because they thought it was too low. Miller's crew hit the Hunton dolomite at 2,488 feet, and after 2,492 feet oil rose 400 feet in the casing.

Crimp Be Put On Mail Order Cigarettes

Federal Law to Check Evasion on Taxes of States

JOPLIN, Mo., Nov. 1.—(P)—The mail order cigarette business which in recent years has grown to great size here, has been knocked into a cocked hat by a new federal law aimed at stopping tax evasions.

Sidney Smith, a beer and cigarette distributor here, who heads the National Consumers Mail Order Association, said today there will be a test of the law's constitutionality before the supreme court.

Meanwhile most of the eight or ten dealers in the Joplin area have quit shipping by mail to customers in other states.

Already there has been a big cut in the volume of business handled at the Joplin postoffice. The parcel post bill for cigarette parcels cleared through this postoffice has been around $200,000 annually, or about one-third of the entire receipts.

Close to 20,000 parcels containing four to 10 cartons of cigarettes have been shipped from Joplin monthly. This indicates an annual gross volume of more than $2,000,000. About 50 persons have been employed here.

The Chief Shipper

The largest individual shipper has been the Capitol Supply company, affiliated with the Joplin Tobacco company. Leonard Royer, manager, said today his company has quit shipping since President Truman signed the new law October 16.

Smith said most other shippers also have quit but some shipments will be made as a basis for a test case.

Joplin has been a main shipping point because it is near the corners of Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas, all of which have state cigarette taxes. Smith, however, advertises and distributes nationally. He said shipments also have been made in volume from Seneca, Neosho, Sedalia, Springfield and Crocker, Missouri.

Session May End After Nov. 15

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 1.—(P)—So far as the Democratic majority of the Missouri Senate is concerned, no more legislation will be passed this session except:

1. Appropriation bills.
2. Routine revision bills bringing the laws up to date.

Everything else is "out the window," caucus chairman Anthony M. Webb (D) of St. Louis said after a two hour closed door wrangle.

What about bills left in committees? He was asked. Webb shrugged. "That's all," he answered. "Revision bills and appropriation bills. Period."

On this basis he estimated the session could end between Nov. 15 and Nov. 19.

Babe Fatally Scalded By Hot Water

HONOLULU, Nov. 1.—(P)—William W. Holt, Jr., 7-month-old son of Lt. and Mrs. William W. Holt, 1414 Ala. Mo., turned on a hot water faucet in his bath and was scalded fatally. His mother had left him to answer the telephone.

The baby died at Tripler General hospital Saturday.

Holt is attached to the U. S. Army Pacific headquarters at Fort Shafter.

Buys Field Jacket He Left at SAAF

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 1.—(P)—Adam E. Rider, 39, a carpenter, bought a field jacket at an army surplus store yesterday.

Inside the collar was his name and army serial number. He had left the jacket at the Sedalia, Mo., army air field when his outfit was sent to the South Pacific in March, 1944.

"That's one coat I'm not going to work in," Rider remarked. "If it wants to stay in the family that bad I'll just hang it up in the closet."

Near End To Strike Is Hope

Bethlehem Fires Up After an Agreement Was Reached Monday

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(P)—Bethlehem Steel's settlement with its strikers raised hopes for a general back-to-work agreement in the steel mills today and put new pressure behind government mediation efforts in the companion soft coal stoppage.

Mediation officials disclosed that their chief, Cyrus S. Ching, may call coal producers and United Mine Workers representatives to Washington Friday.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(P)—A welfare plan agreement that sends 80,000 striking CIO steel workers back to their jobs with Bethlehem Steel Corp., today buoyed government hopes for a quick end to both the steel and coal strikes.

Officials said they expect other steel firms will follow the footsteps of Bethlehem, the nation's second largest steel producer, signed an agreement last night to end the strike so far as this company was concerned.

The government officials said that now that a break has come in the steel strike, definite peace moves may be expected in coal because of the close relations of the two basic industries.

Bethlehem signed up in Cleveland last night with Philip Murray, president of the CIO and the striking steelworkers.

"We broke the line," Murray exulted. "From here on we move with a firmness of purpose and a determination that victory will attend our efforts."

Receive Paid Pensions

The precedent — making contract gives Bethlehem workers employer-paid pension starting at $100 a month, including the benefits they get from the government's coal security system.

It also calls for a death, sickness, accident and hospital cost insurance plan with five cents an hour per worker, with employer and worker equally sharing costs.

Bethlehem has maintained a company-financed insurance system costing employees about 1 1/4 cents an hour.

The settlement on the steel strike's 31st day and the coal walkout's 43rd.

Murray and Bethlehem officials worked out final details and signed the agreement at a three-hour conference between sessions of Murray's CIO convention at Cleveland.

Ching Optimistic

The reaction was swift. Government mediation chief Cyrus S. Ching said he trusted "this settlement will lead to industrial peace in the steel industry generally, at a very early date."

U. S. Steel Corp., the biggest steel producer which has been holding out for workers paying part of pension costs, invited peace talks with Murray's union. U. S. Steel's President, Benjamin F. Fairless, said "of course we will study the Bethlehem settlement."

Officials expected Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp. and the Aluminum Company of America may be among the first strike to seek settlement terms after Bethlehem.

Industry sources said they could not accurately estimate how (Please turn to Page 4, Column 3)

Symphony Board Meets Wednesday

There will be a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Sedalia Symphony society at the Chamber of Commerce offices at 4:00 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Rev. H. U. Campbell, president, announced that plans for the remaining concerts of the 1949-50 season will be discussed. Every member of the board is urged to be present.

Happy Couple

Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley and Vice-President Alben W. Barkley are in a happy mood shortly after Mrs. Hadley announced that they will be married Nov. 18, at her St. Louis, Mo., apartment. The 37-year-old widow said that the wedding would take place in St. Louis at a place to be announced later. (P Wirephoto)

Ask For More To The Schools

Urge Committee For an Extra Eight Million

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 1.—(P)—Missouri will continue to lose its best teachers to other states unless the schools get more money, the senate appropriations committee was told last night.

Educators urged the committee to approve an extra $8,000,000 appropriation for the public schools for the next two years. This would be in addition to the one-third general revenue already appropriated as state aid.

The committee took no action on the proposal. W. Virgil Cheek, member of the Springfield State College faculty and first vice president of the State Teachers' Association was the principal spokesman for the school men.

Cheek told the committee the average salary of the Missouri teacher today is nine per cent less than the average pay of all other employed persons, including garbage men and dishwashers.

Before the war the teacher's average salary in the state was 12 per cent more than the average of other employed persons, he said.

Cheek said it had been estimated state revenue will fall off during the next two years and unless the extra appropriation is made the schools will suffer.

Pledge Improvement

Hubert Wheeler, state commissioner of education, pledged that for every extra dollar appropriated for public schools "we will give you a dollar improvement in our schools."

Wheeler cited school improvement the last two years. In that time the number of teachers without college degrees has been reduced from 800 to 47; 1,102 districts have been merged and a classification program has been carried on.

John Bracken, superintendent of the Clayton schools, told the committee a championship teacher team "cannot be built in Missouri without money."

Superintendent Harold E. Moore of the Kansas City Schools said (Please Turn To Page 4, Col. 6)

Fatally Injured As His Truck Upset

SEYMOUR, Mo., Nov. 1.—(P)—William Turner, 16, was fatally injured last night when a pickup truck in which he was riding overturned just east of the city limits of Seymour on Highway 60. The driver of the truck, identified by State Highway Patrolmen as Robert Vollenweider, 19, escaped injury.

Devote Meeting To "Walking Blood Bank"

The regular meeting of the Sedalia Lions Club, Wednesday noon at the Bothwell hotel, will be devoted to the "Walking Blood Bank" with Dr. E. L. Rhodes and Ralph Carrell, as the speakers.

Official Visit To Elks Lodge

High Officer be At Memorial Class Initiation

Wednesday night, Nov. 2, will be a big night for Sedalia Elks. Their building at Fourth street and Kentucky avenue will be the scene of the well prepared event.

The district deputy Grand Exalted Ruler, J. Howard Hannah, will make his official visit to Sedalia lodge No. 125. Mr. Hannah is a Past Exalted Ruler of the Springfield, Missouri, lodge No. 409. He is the present district deputy for the Southwest Missouri district and will bring a personal message from Grand Exalted Ruler, Emmett T. Anderson.

A large class of candidates will be initiated Wednesday night. This class is known as the Burns McGinley Memorial class in tribute to a former member, who served faithfully as public relations officer of the lodge during World War II, when the local Elks club facilities were thrown open to soldiers of the Sedalia Air Base.

This is expected to be the biggest meeting of the year. Plenty of refreshments for everyone.

Over Fifty Killed In Planes' Collision

Allot Missouri $12,759,917 in Aid for Roads

Available When Missouri Has Its Share Ready

By Charles Haslet
AP Special Washington Service

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(P)—The government has allotted more than $31,000,000 to Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri for highway construction in the year starting next July 1.

The next allotments are: Oklahoma, $8,986,934; Kansas $9,422,140 and Missouri $12,759,917.

The public roads administration said that its latest figures show the states also have unspent balances from previous federal aid funds as follows: Oklahoma $3,297,000; Kansas $2,616,000 and Missouri, $5,363,000.

Adding the new figures and the balances, the states have on hand in federal aid allotments: Oklahoma, $12,283,934; Kansas, $12,038,140 and Missouri $18,122,917.

The federal aid money is to assist states in financing improvements of federal primary, secondary and urban routes.

Advanced a Month

Normally the apportionments for the next fiscal year are made in December but were advanced this year.

On September 30, the last report shows, Oklahoma had programmed 787 miles of new federal aid highways, estimated to cost $26,755,000, with $10,313,000 being federal funds.

Kansas has programmed a total of 1,340 miles to cost an estimated $11,789,000, of which $5,060,000 would be federal funds.

Missouri has programmed 818 miles costing an estimated $28,886,000, with $14,580,000 as the federal share.

The federal aid apportioned to the states is available only after state projects get PRA approval and the state's share of the funds is made available.

In Oklahoma plans have been approved for 205 miles of federal aid roadway but construction had not started, the PRA said. The projects would cost an estimated $5,968,000 of which $3,149,000 would be federal aid.

Kansas has had plans approved for 491 miles, to cost $5,007,000, with $2,371,000 the federal share, but work is not under way.

Similarly, plans have been approved for 190 miles in Missouri to cost $9,504,000, with the government to pay $4,110,000.

Rather Peaceful Hallowe'en Here

Hallowe'en night was comparatively peaceful to some of the nights of mischief-making in years gone by. Following the parade that went down Ohio avenue, the business district was abounding with masked and costumed pranksters.

The Sedalia police department patrolled the city with the aid of forty extra auxiliary policemen of the American Legion Post No. 16 and ten cars.

Monday night was expected to be busy night for the local peace officers but things were kept well in order and only a few minor incidents were reported.

The police department received a call from 317 East Boonville about 8:00 o'clock Monday night to investigate and search for vandals who shoved an out building over. A search of the neighborhood was made by a group of the auxiliary police but the pranksters made good their escape.

Mrs. Celia Chasnoff reported to the police about 11:00 o'clock Monday night that a large white porch glider had been taken from her front porch. She said the glider was very heavy and would have had to be carried off by several large boys or young men.

Plenty of clean cold water, and razor blades and a lot of elbow grease, eradicated the pounds of soap smeared on downtown store windows on Hallowe'en Night. As per usual, all downtown store windows were a target for the soap pranksters, but it isn't too bad—all merchants can look forward to clean polished windows once a year, and in addition to that, it doesn't cost anything for the soap to clean them—it's already paid for, or was it swiped from the kitchen?

It was expected that many a mother would bake an apple pie today or tomorrow, for her son or daughter. Yes, that's right, out of the apples the "trick or treaters" threw in their huge sacks that were handed them from a peaceful neighbor, who didn't want to suffer the consequences.

Be Back to Renew Ring Hunt

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 1.—(P)—Vice President Barkley still hasn't found the kind of wedding ring he wants for his bride-to-be. Barkley and Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley, 38, who announced their marriage date Sunday, shopped for a ring yesterday. But they were unable to find just what they wanted.

The 71 year old vice president planned a flying trip to Washington, Pa., today for a speaking engagement.

After filling the engagement, he will return to St. Louis and continue his search for a ring.

The wedding date is Nov. 18. Barkley said he planned to be "floating around this area between now and the wedding."

"I might be in St. Louis over next week-end," he added. "I'll be in Chicago next Monday giving a speech. Also I plan to spend more time in Kentucky."

After the wedding, the "Veep" and his bride will move to Barkley's home near Paducah, Ky. The place is known as "The Angles."

Redistricting Elections Being Held

Plans For Combining Districts Scheduled For 29 Counties

By The Associated Press
Another round of school redistricting elections is being held today in Missouri.

Plans for combining districts into enlarged administrative units are up for decision in 29 counties. And if the outcome follows the trend in previous elections more plans will be rejected than approved.

The state board of education has received results of previous elections from 67 counties in which the voters balloted on proposals for consolidation of 4,501 districts into 251 enlarged units.

Of the 251 the voters approved 101, representing a combination of 1,003 districts.

Six of the counties in today's election are voting on the plans approved by the state board. They are Dent, Iron, Marion, Platte, Reynolds and Washington.

Pettis County Election

The other 23 counties have had plans twice rejected by the state board. So the county boards are submitting them to the voters as required by the Missouri school reorganization law.

These counties are: Andrew, Barton, Benton, Galloway, Carroll, Cass, Clay, Clark, Dade, Franklin, Harrison, Henry, Jasper, Lafayette, Lawrence, McDonald, Madison, Mercer, Pettis, Pike, Randolph, Saline, and Vernon.

Not all the districts in these counties are voting since some of the larger ones will remain intact. In many cases the redistricting proposals cross county lines.

The Pettis county board of education has proposed to combine 79 existing districts in Pettis county together with one district in Cooper and one in Morgan counties, into 10 enlarged districts.

A majority vote in favor of combining the schools in any proposed district will effect an immediate change to a re-organized district in that area. Special elections will be held within 30 days to elect a six-director school board for any district which may vote to re-organize.

The polls opened this morning at 6:00 a. m., and the voting will continue until 7:00 p. m., this evening.

Appeal to Save Gandhi Assassins

NEW DELHI, Nov. 1.—(P)—Nearly 5,000 persons in Bombay province have appealed to India's governor C. Rajagopalachari, to commute the death sentences against N. V. Godse and N. D. Apte, who are scheduled to hang Nov. 15 for the assassination of Mahatma Gandhi.

One group of petitioners contended that Gandhi, as the apostle of non-violence, would not have tolerated the idea of hanging his own assassins.

Little Bolivian Aircraft Hits East. Airliner

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(P)—A little Bolivian fighter plane and a big airliner collided in the air near the Washington Airport today with a probable death toll of 55.

More than two hours after the crash only one person was known to have come through it alive.

Babbles In Spanish
He was an unidentified man who babbled deliriously in Spanish and was believed to be the Bolivian pilot, Eric Rios Bridoux, 28.

There were believed to have been 51 passengers and four crewmen aboard the Eastern Airlines DC-4 which was inbound from Boston and New York.

Among the passengers on the Eastern Airlines DC-4 airliner were Rep. George J. Bates, 58, Massachusetts Republican; Michael J. Kennedy, 52 of New York, former member of Congress and a former Tammany Hall leader and Gardner W. Taylor, 60, president of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of New York.

Also believed among the passengers was Helen Hokinson, the cartoonist who became noted as a portrayal of suburban life.

The airliner crashed at the Potomac river's edge. Bodies of the passengers were flung over an area of 150 yards. Many apparently were lost in the river.

Military authorities and airport police said 25 bodies had been recovered.

The only body definitely identified in mid-afternoon was that of Helen Gilbert, stewardess.

The two planes came together about 300 feet in the air. Airport control officials said Rios Bridoux had been instructed by radio to permit the airliner to land first, but that he let down his landing gear and headed in for a landing without acknowledging the instructions.

Considered Good Pilot
Officials of the Civil Aeronautics Administration said Bridoux understood English and was regarded as a good pilot.

His fighter plane was a P-38, recently bought from the United States. Bridoux had been testing the plane before flying it to Bolivia.

The airliner was a four-engine DC-4. It cleared Boston this morning and, after a stop at New York, was coming in for a landing at Washington at the time of the collision.

Government officials said the Bolivian government bought two P-38 planes from the U. S. about three or four weeks ago for the Bolivian air force.

One was sent to Bolivia. The other has been kept here pending routine clearance.

The two planes struck while in the air. Those who saw the collision said there was an explosion on the airliner. They said there was undoubtedly a heavy loss of life.

Eastern Airlines identified the flight as number 537.

It left Boston at 9 a. m. and had stopped at New York.

It cleared LaGuardia airport at about 10:30 and was due to land at Washington at 11:46.

The collision occurred about a half mile south of the airport over Mount Vernon boulevard which runs from the nation's capitol through Alexandria, Va., to Mt. Vernon, the home of George Washington.

Skies were overcast but visibility was unlimited and the ceiling was several thousand feet.

The military airports are located (Please turn to Page 4, Column 3)

Just a Wee Nip Before Dinner
JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 1.—(P)—A Hallowe'en moon shone last night on corn shocks and corn (liquid).

State senators were dinner guests at one of Missouri's prison farms near here, but drinking is not allowed there.

So local business men set up a portable bar at the side of the road. Guests thus got a wee nip on the way.

Navy's Watchdog Unit Saves Taxpayers Thousands of Dollars

by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 — While certain admirals were attracting the national spotlight with broadsides of criticism on Capitol Hill, another navy unit was patriotically retrieving thousands of dollars for the taxpayers without attracting any attention at all.

This unspectacular nose-to-the-grindstone outfit was the Pittsburgh office of the supervising inspector of naval material. With head-aches instead of headlines for a reward, this watchdog unit went through navy contracts looking for bugs. As a result, enough bugs were combed out of the navy's contract with the Canonsburg Steel and Iron company to reverse the company's claim for $1,346,306. Instead of paying Canonsburg, the navy collected $574,157.

In another case, the admirals had gloated over purchasing $1,131,188 worth of material from the Cooper-Bessemer corporation at the bargain price of $63,251. The watchdog unit discovered, however, that this wasn't such a bargain after all. For, believe it or not, the navy had bought its own material, already paid for by the navy.

But, thanks again to the watchdog unit, Westinghouse Electric corporation was ordered to shell out an additional $18,724 for equipment that it had brought from the navy for 2 per cent of the original cost. The navy unit also cracked down on the company owned by Perle Mesta, U. S. minister to Luxembourg and famed dinner hostess to President Truman. The Mesta Machine company had tried to charge the navy $36,000 for maintaining a navy plant, but the watchdog unit took exception to a few items, including 100 per cent for overhead, and out the bill down to $22,400.

When the bureau of yards and docks tried to give away a navy building erected on the property of the National Tube company, the watchdog unit stepped in and finally sold the building for $24,800.

In another instance, navy-owned electric furnaces and industrial equipment were lying idle. So the watchdog unit got busy and leased this equipment to the Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corporation for $709,000.

Another company, the Elliott company, tried to buy a navy office building for $38,100. Just as the contract was about to be signed, the watchdog unit moved in with its inspectors and adding machines. As a result of a more careful appraisal, Elliott company had to pay $60,725.

Note — The man in charge of the navy unit which is doing such a good job of saving the taxpayers' money is Capt. M. C. Barrett. His chief assistants are Comdrs. P. Page and J. K. Kennedy.

Truman's Waistline

Though the President jokes about his expanding waistline, actually he watches his diet carefully. The other day at lunch, Truman ate two pieces of home-cured country Missouri ham — an unusually large portion of meat for him. The dessert was ice cream and chocolate cake. Looking at the cake wistfully, Truman turned timidly to Brig. Gen. Wallace Graham, White House physician and asked:

"Doc, can I have a piece of that good chocolate cake?"

"No, sir," replied Dr. Graham sternly, "you can't, Mr. President."

"That's all I wanted to hear," retorted the President as he boldly reached for a big piece of cake.

"I'll see you at 5 o'clock," warned the White House physician, referring to the President's exercise period.

Truman started talking to his guest, Senator McFarland, ate a few crumbs of the delicious cake. Despite his braggadocio, he took Graham's warning seriously.

Big Tax Loophole

Congressman Walter Lynch of New York bluntly informed the big life insurance companies at a closed-door session of a ways and means sub-committee last week that the gravy train they have been riding for the last three years had reached the end of the line. A loophole in the tax laws, enabling the companies to escape billions of dollars of income taxes, is going to be closed.

Furthermore, Lynch warned the insurance executives that they might as well quit protesting about paying up retroactive taxes.

"These obligations due the government are going to be collected one way or another—and I mean retroactively," Lynch served notice at a closed-door meeting. "The honeymoon is over."

He offered the insurance tycoons either of two alternatives:

1. A "stopgap" bill, pending revision of the tax laws, requiring the companies to pay taxes on all above 92 per cent of their income from investments for the years 1948 and 1949. (Under a tax law formula written in 1942, tax exemptions on investment incomes have amounted to 100 per cent in the last three years.)

2. If the companies don't want to make retroactive payments for two years under this bill—already introduced by Ways and Means chairman Bob Doughton of North Carolina—Lynch proposed that they pay up for all three years (1947, 1948 and 1949) under a so-called "average valuation" formula.

This would amount to an across-the-board lowering of tax deductions for all insurance firms, without regard to surpluses in reserve funds.

However, the insurance execs., led by A. J. McCandless of Lincoln National, Fort Wayne, Ind., vigorously objected to both proposals. They were in no position to make retroactive payments of any kind, they insisted, since the money that normally would go toward the tax payoff already had been distributed as dividends.

"Well, make up your minds," replied Lynch. "You may as well realize that you can't ride free any longer."

When McCandless protested that the life insurance firms were not prepared for such a sudden blow at their reserve funds, and that retroactive payments would endanger the stability of a number of companies, Lynch shot back:

"Why, you've been put on notice as long as two years ago, when you first discussed your exemptions with the Treasury Department. You've known all along that you would have to make good on these unpaid taxes some day. So you can't accuse the Congress of dealing with you arbitrarily."

McCandless and colleagues finally suggested that 1947 and 1948 taxes be written off with the 1949 and 1950 taxes paid—if the taxable floor in the Doughton bill was raised from 92 to 95 per cent of investment income. Lynch flatly rejected this, however, and gave the insurance executives until today (Nov. 1) to make up their minds on his two-way proposal.

Eisenhower Keeps His Head in Knotty Unification Squabble

By Bruce Blossat

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was at his most statesmanlike best the other day in testifying to Congress on the bitter inter-service squabble.

He declined to get into the melee. Instead in a calm, precise way he devoted himself to clearing the air so everybody could understand the dispute more easily. He sought to lift both congressional and Pentagon thinking above the level of present animosities and to get things into balance.

Partisans of either the Navy or Air Force may have been disappointed that the general did not take their side. But they should really be grateful that he did not. For in the end this controversy must be settled through reconciling opposing views—not through crushing victory for one or the other.

Eisenhower told the House armed services committee the root of the trouble is the division of the service dollar. As he put it graphically: "Each service wants into that pile with its shovel."

Stripped of its emotional fervor, the Navy's case is disclosed as largely a fear that it will be whittled down not through overt legal acts but through a choking off of funds it believes vital to most effective operations.

On the other hand, to the Air Force it is basically a question of putting the most chips on those defense task that the Joint Chiefs of Staff have given highest priority, such as strategic bombing.

Eisenhower helped the cause of unity on this money issue by reminding both the generals and the admiral that they had worked well together during the war. He advised them "not to be too ready to call names or impugn motives" in this dispute, but rather to search for the same sort of cooperation they found in battle.

To Eisenhower much of the current difficulty is an inescapable part of the struggle for a permanently unified command. "Stumbling and fumbling" is perfectly natural at this stage, he said. But the effort to unify must go on; it must not give way to discouragement because the obstacles seem great.

The inquiry into the armed services rift is now put off until January. In the intervening two months the nation will gain some idea whether unification has been advanced or retarded by this painful public airing of differences.

If military and naval officials accept Eisenhower's advice, they may now begin to move closer to real service unity on a sounder footing than heretofore. Doubts and fears are out in the open, motives are known, and actions by each branch can be better understood.

But if the top brass of Navy and Air Force proceed instead to entrench themselves in their widely separated present positions, January will find Congress with a knottier problem than it had when the hearing closed.

Eisenhower spoke with the good of the country in mind. It would be unfortunate for the nation were the generals and admirals not to heed his words and begin to patch up their differences in a new spirit of cooperation.

Sad Experience Should Prove Some Things Just Don't Pay

It never pays a woman— To win an argument from a man. To pretend she is younger than she is.

To take another woman down a notch or two.

To try to turn herself into a carbon copy of another woman.

To ask a woman friend's advice about her clothes.

To say anything she has to preface with: "I shouldn't repeat this but . . ."

To be on the dot when she is meeting another woman.

To tell a man his faults.

To point out how "simply awful" she looks.

To get a reputation for being "a worker."

To get a laugh at someone else's expense.

To start her sentence with "If I were you. . ."

To get a facial. (If she needs a facial—she's beyond it help.)

To refuse to give another woman a prized recipe.

To ask another woman what she is going to wear to a party. (The other woman always changes her mind at the last minute.)

To tell a man he doesn't love her any more.

To make a threat she isn't ready to carry out.

To worry over a man.

Infectious Hepatitis Probably Caused by a Virus Infection

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Infectious hepatitis, or epidemic jaundice as it is sometimes called, is probably an old disease, but it has certainly received a great deal more attention in recent years.

A serious problem with infectious hepatitis came during World War II. The disease seemed to spring up (principally among military men) in many parts of the world. In some places it almost reached epidemic proportions.

The disease is almost certainly caused by an infection, most probably a virus. Presumably this accounted for the fact that its true nature remained so long unrecognized. It seems to involve the liver, principally, and the symptoms can be traced chiefly to that organ.

Fever Common

About half the patients stricken with the epidemic form of the disease develop fever which generally reaches about 103 degrees. The typical yellow color of the skin and eyeballs of jaundice is frequently not noticed until after the patient has been sick for several days. Actually the yellow color or jaundice varies a good deal from person to person.

Convalescence from a typical case of the disease often takes a long time. It is generally considered to run for about two months but may be much longer. In some the acute form seems to be followed by a chronic variety from which recovery is quite slow.

The treatment for the epidemic variety which seemed to work best during the war included strict bed rest early in the course of the disease. This bed rest was continued for a long time during convalescence because getting up too early often seemed to bring back some of the symptoms. Another method of treatment which seemed to be helpful was the use of a diet containing a high proportion of protein foods, such as milk, fish, eggs and cheese.

Much further research work is needed before all of the necessary facts which will lead to its prevention and better treatment can be accumulated.

Note: Dr. Jordan is unable to answer individual questions from readers. However, each day he will answer one of the most frequently asked questions in his column.

The CAMEO

By Virginia Teale Copyright, 1949, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Martin Falter, one of the residents of the Delmar, Calif., art colony, appears at the Three Wishes Gift Shop, operated by Hagar Hagler, with a carnival cameo. Hagar, a collector of cameos, knows it is rare and valuable. As she examines it, her youthful assistant, Stephanie Smith, appears. At the sight of the cameo, she drops a vase. Hagar continues her examination of the cameo.

II

"YOUR common sense should tell you that any collector worth his salt would recognize a piece like this one. The only thing I don't know about it is how you happen to have it."

"Suspicion is unbecoming even to attractive women, my dear Hagar!" He bowed as she jerked indignantly. "I'll say once again that I came by it honestly. And now, the main point: I have it and you want it. I happen to know that you have sufficient means to meet my price, provided your well-known — ah — prudence in money matters doesn't overcome your collector's mania."

Hagar stood tense, her eyes yearning. One fist was pressed tightly up under her nose, the pressure warping her angular face into gargoyles outlines.

Falter ceremoniously returned the cameo to its box and offered it to Hagar. She shook her head: "Fah. The old brush salesman trick. Tell me first how much?"

"I suppose I should ask $15,000. But, to you only, I'll say $12,000." She stamped her feet: "You know darned well I can't afford any such price!"

He raised his eyebrows: "For what is probably the rarest cameo on the market? For the piece that would make your collection almost priceless? For the finest carnival carving ever to come out of Italy?"

"Since when did you become an authority on cameos?"

Falter blew a plume of smoke toward the ceiling: "One learns what one may find profitable. I could tell you even more about this pin. About how it figured in Napoleon's war with Russia, how it was used as a pawn for freedom by a Russian archduke. And about how, finally, it got back into the Russian crown jewels and was eventually brought to this country and sold to provide bread for an exiled duchess."

"You've boned up well, Falter. But, since I'm positive you didn't give the bread to the duchess, I still question where you got hold of the pin. I haven't got $12,000, or even $10,000 to buy it." She brushed her palms together with brisk finality. "You can take the pin and go up the street and sell it for $12,000! I've got an inventory to finish."

Falter shrugged, looked at the silver box regretfully and slipped it into his pocket: "It seems I overestimated your good taste, Hagar, and underestimated your parsimony. Well, perhaps someday you may be able to feast your eyes on this cameo again—through the glass of some other collector's case."

As he sauntered toward the door, Stephanie dashed forward and pulled at his sleeve:

"No! Wait!"

Stephanie's face was turned up to his pleadingly. Her right hand tugged imploringly at his left elbow as she spoke:

"Come back tomorrow, Mr. Falter, will you? Come back tomorrow and bring the pin. Will you, please?"

He patted her shoulder. "I may stop in again—if I'm in the neighborhood."

He went out, closed the door quietly and walked away from the shop without a backward glance at the two staring women.

Hagar confronted Stephanie: "And what, may I ask, was the meaning of all that?"

The girl gave her a long, unwavering look, and Hagar drew

back, startled, at the surface fire in the blue eyes.

"Hagar, Hagar, you must buy the cameo lock. You must!"

Hagar gazed nervously. "At that price? What's come over you, girl? I can't afford the thing, and that's final."

Halfway to the back room, she stopped and pivoted slowly to face Stephanie:

"Why did you call it a lock? It's a pin. A brooch."

Stephanie was staring into space, she shook her head: "No. It's a lock. And you must buy it, Hagar. No matter what it costs, we must get it away from Martin Falter."

MARTIN FALTER made his way down the town's main thoroughfare. He passed a small building whose facade consisted of a blue door and a wide window in which a ceramic urn was displayed on a drape of tapestry—this was the studio of Nell and Tom O'Neill, art potters and people-about-town.

Somewhere behind it, probably where the buxom and impulsive Nell, and her husband, Tom, whose alternate preoccupation with his clay and his bottle left Nell feeling neglected and receptive to sympathy and attention from a discreet and personable friend.

A sign farther up the street was Martin's goal today and he hurried toward it. He glanced up at the narrow platform jutting out over the top of the doorway—on the platform rested a weathered spinning wheel. He rattled the knocker impatiently.

Quick footsteps sounded on the bare floor inside. A small Judas window in the top section of the door was opened cautiously. A key turned in the lock and the door swung wide.

"Martin! I was afraid it was some more of those sightseers the art gallery sends down. I had four here yesterday. The next time they come I'm going to pretend I'm a Japanese houseboy and nobody else is at home. Come in, won't you?"

Martin stepped inside. "Greetings, Arnold. Hard at work?"

Arnold Pfeiffer smiled and adjusted his blue linen smock. "Busy as a bee. Three more orders came in today and no price limit on any of them. Tapestry weaving, as an art, is really coming into its own again, you know."

He led the way through the empty hall. The corners of Martin's lips turned up mockingly as he followed the slender, swaying figure.

THEY entered a spacious, brightly lighted room. There were shelves from floor to ceiling honey-combed with cubicles containing yarns and threads of every available color and texture.

Arnold seated himself and fitted a cigarette into his meerschaum and amber holder; he lit the cigarette and leaned back, his eyes expectantly on Martin's face.

"Well, Arnold," Martin began, "my expenses have been heavy lately, and I find I could use a little extra cash." He watched Arnold's expression change, and chuckled. "Oh, don't look so trapped, dear boy. I'm not going to ask for a loan."

Arnold laughed deprecatingly and flourished his cigarette holder: "Why, I wasn't worried about that, Marty. You know I'd be only too glad—that is, I was just sorry to hear that things aren't prosperous for you."

"Nice of you. Anyhow, I was wondering if you'd do a little errand for me in San Francisco when you go up tomorrow. Tomorrow is the day, isn't it?"

"Yes, I have a tapestry to deliver."

"Mind you, Arnold, this is confidential."

Arnold nodded gravely.

Martin drew out the silver box from his pocket, opened it and pushed it across the table.

Arnold reached for it, giving a gasp of surprise and pleasure: "Good heavens! What a perfectly gorgeous thing! I've never seen anything like this—it's exquisite!"

"It's worth an exquisite sum, too," Martin said flatly.

"Oh, I can see it's a very rare old piece. What's it worth?"

"I'm asking $10,000."

Miss Jean Batchelder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira L. Batchelder, of Kansas City and Mr. Richard L. Bullard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bullard of Albuquerque, N. M., were married in a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Charles Andrus at 8 o'clock Saturday night, October 15, at the Van Brunt Presbyterian church, in Kansas City. The vows were exchanged before a background of yellow chrysanthemums, pompons and tall candelabra holding yellow cathedral tapers. Mrs. Walter Butler, organist, played the wedding music and accompanied Mr. Harold H. Reynolds, who sang, "Through the Years," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Mr. Batchelder gave his daughter in marriage. Candlelight satin was chosen by the bride for her gown. The basque bodice was heavily beaded with seed pearls with shower design over the left shoulder, and the long sleeves tapered to points over the hands. The voluminous hoop style skirt lengthened into a long, cathedral train. Her fingertip length veil of French illusion fell from a French bonnet of matching satin outlined with flowers of seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with white orchids and with shower of stephanotis.

Mrs. Harry T. Snow, Jr., sister or the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a gown of ice blue satin and lace styled with a fitted bodice and a full circular skirt. The bridesmaids, Miss Danna Kasper, Miss Mary Ellen Williams and Miss Mary Lou Cox, wore gowns of gold champagne satin identical in style as the one worn by the matron of honor. The attendants all carried colonial bouquets of rust chrysanthemums and pompons.

The tapers were lighted by Miss Frankie Burgard and Miss Barbara Logan. Lndia Jean Snow was the flower girl, and Tommy Butler the ring bearer. Mr. Harold Bullard acted as best man for his brother. The groomsmen were Mr. Charles Moore, Mr. Norman Smith and Mr. Harry Snow, Jr. Mr. Bob Dolson, Jr., Mr. Walter Butler and Mr. Jim Gray ushered.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's mother wore a gown of deep rust crepe trimmed with nailheads. Her corsage was of rust pompons. The bridegroom's mother wore a mist blue satin dress with black accessories and corsage of yellow pompons. The bride traveled in a navy blue and white suit with navy blue velvet accessories and a corsage of white orchids. The couple will be at home at 3400 East Sixteenth street terrace.

The bridegroom is a nephew of Mrs. H. H. Ritchey, 129 East Walnut street, and his mother is, at the present time, visiting at the Ritchey home here.

A party honoring the birthday anniversaries of Miss Alma Wise and Mrs. Carl Frank was given Thursday evening by Miss Marian Norton, at her home, 500 South Grand avenue.

The home was decorated in the Halloween motif with black cats, pumpkins and witches used throughout the home. The dining table was centered with an arrangement of asters, on either side of which were pumpkins and candles with sprigs of bitter-sweet.

The evening was spent in playing canasta with awards going to Mrs. Calvin Renau and Mrs. David Mahnkens.

The guests of honor were given a handkerchief shower and found the handkerchiefs at their places when the desert course of pumpkin pie and coffee were served. Black witches were favors.

Guests were: Miss Alma Wise, Miss Mildred Brackman, Mrs. Carl Frank, Mrs. Charles Peirson, Mrs. William Solon, Mrs. Paul Burke, Mrs. Calvin Renau, Mrs. David Mahnkens and Mrs. Frank Rouchka.

Mrs. Solon and Mrs. Rouchka assisted Miss Norton in entertaining.

Mrs. Emil Mosier, Sedalia, was the guest of honor Sunday, October 30 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ralph Lindhardt, 659 East Sixteenth street, the occasion being her 60th birthday anniversary.

The dining room was centered with a huge cake using the amount of candles and a color scheme of pink. Cut flower bouquets were used throughout the home.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Emil Mosier and sons, R. V., Wilbur, Francis and Norman; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mosier, Delphia Self and daughter, Nancy, Mr. and Mrs. Amil Mosier, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lindhardt and son Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Mosier and children, Wanda Lee and Richard Wayne of Smithton; Mr. and Mrs. George Glass and children, Donald Dean,

Martha Marie and La Nell, Mrs. Mary Glass of Tipton.

The afternoon was spent in taking pictures of the family, also the unwrapping of gifts received by the honoree.

"The History of Old and Unusual Jewelry" was the subject of a paper read Monday afternoon at Sorosis by Mrs. W. F. Woodruff, of Warrensburg, which had been written by Mrs. E. F. Heart, of that city. Mrs. B. A. Richards, who was to have read the paper was ill and unable to come to Sedalia. The program was originally given at the A. B. C. club for the Homemaking department and was an exchange program with Sorosis.

The source of most of the material came from the book, "Antique Jewelry" by Burgess.

Modern jewelry closely ties in with the old fashioned jewelry, the speaker said, with gold and precious stones the most tangible form of wealth. The earliest workers she said, worked first in gold and silver without stones and then later the stones were added. She pointed out that a goldsmith is one who works in gold, a silversmith works in silver and a jeweler works in stones.

Gold, Mrs. Woodruff said, is still the chief metal for jewelry, and each gold mine has an interesting history.

Along the seashores in primitive times the most common jewelry was made of shells and this is still true in the South Sea Islands and many places where shells are found along the shores, the speaker said.

Found in the modern jewelry are replicas or variations of the older forms, the speaker said. The first work on metal was done by hand, she said, then they cast it and engraved it by hand, but the early jewelry was made entirely by hand and the pieces are very fragile because most of them are pure gold. The present source of gold comes mostly from Australia, the Klondike and South Africa, with most of the silver coming from Australia and South America.

The cross, the speaker stated, is still the most popular emblem used in jewelry as it was in olden times.

Some of the precious stones, such as rubies and garnets, are pretty enough in their natural form that they may be used, Mrs. Woodruff said.

The first jewelry, the speaker said, was not worn as ornaments but to ward off evil spirits. Mrs. Woodruff told about the jewelry in museums some very famous in traditions. She also told of watches some of which are still running that were made in the 17th century. Ivory she said, is fine for carving but is very scarce and nothing that is a good substitute has been found.

The Pinchbeck jewelry, which was a gold plated jewelry of the 18th century is no longer made.

Mrs. Woodruff was introduced by Mrs. T. W. Croxton, of the Art and Drama department, who then asked several of the women who had brought old or unusual jewelry with them to tell about their particular jewelry. Perhaps the most interesting story was given by Mrs. George Holbrook, who told of a man who had gone to Cripple Creek, Colo., to mine gold. He worked for several years and never seemed to be able to find it. Then he decided at the end of that day he would quit. That day a Frenchman came by and asked how he was getting along and the man told him he was discouraged and was going to quit. The Frenchman asked if he might have the claim and continue where the man had left off. When he was told that he could the Frenchman gave him a little diamond cross for the stake. The man returned home and gave the little cross to his four year old niece and within two years the Frenchman struck gold which made him a millionaire. The piece of jewelry Mrs. Holbrook displayed was the little diamond cross. Mrs. Holbrook was the niece.

Mrs. H. E. Dindstrom, president, presided over the meeting.

A luncheon in honor of Mrs. Woodruff preceded the meeting.

In the absence of Mrs. Philip McLaughlin, Mrs. T. H. Yount announced the program for next week, which will be "Philosophy of the Hats" given by Mrs. Lloyd White, of Kansas City.

A luncheon will be served at 12:30 o'clock in honor of Mrs. White with reservations to be in party at her home 200 East Tower street, Friday afternoon from 7:00 to 9:00 o'clock.

The home was attractively decorated in the Halloween colors and colored balloons of Japanese lanterns.

Awards were given the following: for the funniest costume, Miss Norma Kelley; the prettiest costume, Miss Sue Jean Hall; the spookiest costume, Michel Stickle and the smallest one in costume, Tommy Robb. The contest award went to Miss Dessie Belsha.

Janice was assisted in serving refreshments of hot dogs and marshmallows to the following guests: Andy Sherman, Ida Lou Fiene, Mary Raza, Norma Jean Kelley, Jessie Pulley, Dessie Belsha, Ardis Fay Walter, Peggy Joe Robb, Myrtle Brown, Theda Balch, Virginia Miller, Judy Robb, Mick Stickle, Wanda Gehken, Mary Lou Hopper, Tommy Robb, Janet Wolf, Terry Kelley, Sue Jean Hall, Robert Wagner, Mary pointer, Melvin Wade, Carolyn Napier, Charles Robb, Mildred Robb, Junior Rass, Mary Louise Ellison, Allen Ray Boggs, Clara James, Mrs. John McDaniels, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Christie and Jerry Ray and Janice.

Friends and relatives gathered at the home of Henry Meyer of 1905 East Broadway with well filled baskets Sunday and celebrated his 84th birthday anniversary which was October 17.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Meyer, Sedalia; Mr. and Mrs. George Meyer and daughter, Karon of Holden; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Meyer and children, Jannet and Donna of Huminsville; John Meyer and sons, Virgil, Chris, J. B. and daughter Zetta of Otterville; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Meyer and son Charles of Sedalia; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Meyer of Sedalia; Mrs. J. H. Meyer of Sedalia; Miss Martha Meyer of Smithton; Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Gafken, daughter Dorothy of Kansas City; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gafken of Kansas City; Mr. and Mrs. George Meyer of Smithton; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Semkie of Smithton; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Eichholz of Sedalia; Mrs. Agnes Lewis of Fort Worth, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Eichholz of Smithton; Mr. and Mrs. Kalo Eichholz, son Gerra and daughter Joyce Kay of Smithton; and Mr. and Mrs. Joe L. Bundy of Corcus Christy, Texas.

The afternoon was spent in taking pictures and conversation.

By Plane to Detroit To Purchase Auto

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Zimmerschied of Port Angeles, Wash., flew to Detroit, Mich., on October 19, where they purchased a new Mercury car. On their way back home they stopped in Chicago and visited Mrs. Zimmerschied's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Fairer of 503 East Chestnut. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Carl Zimmerschied of Cole Camp. They reported it took them 12 hours to fly to Detroit from Port Angeles. The Zimmerschieds are formerly of Pettis County.

The Altar Society of the Sacred Heart church will meet Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the school hall.

Mrs. J. C. Orender, president, will preside, and Mrs. E. F. Yancey will be the guest speaker.

Following the meeting a party in honor of the birthday anniversary of Rev. A. J. Brunswick will be given by the women. Mrs. R. A. Butler and her group will have charge of the entertainment.

District Meet Of PTA Here

'Making Use of Our Patterns' Theme Of Several Talks

The Sedalia District of Parent Teacher Associations comprised of Saline, Cooper, Morgan, Moniteau, Benton and Pettis counties met at the Epworth Methodist church, October 27, at 9:45 o'clock. There were 156 registered delegates.

Mrs. Verney Engholm of Sedalia, president of the district, opened the session. Rev. Ralph E. Hurd gave the invocation. Greetings were extended by Heber U. Hunt, superintendent of Sedalia schools, C. F. Scotten, superintendent of Pettis County schools; Mrs. Kurman Riley, president of the Pettis County Council; and Mrs. John Loague, president of the Sedalia Council, extended greetings to the delegates.

Unit reports were given from the various towns and county council followed by group singing led by Mrs. Lloyd Kirkpatrick.

Mrs. Charles L. Lechler, St. Joseph, second vice president of the Missouri Congress of Parents and Teachers chose as her subject, "Making Use of Our Patterns." Mrs. Lechler stated patterns for living must fit the child as well as adults, not only in the home, but the school and the community. Some of Mrs. Lechler's remarks were based on the recent convention in Joplin. In thinking of a child's development, we must think of it in four places, the home, the school, church and the community. We can not send a child to school and keep part of him at home, so the pattern of living must be tucked to fit all four places. Various agencies must be combined to help the child develop.

Mrs. Lechler suggested various churches and Parent Teacher Association groups work more closely together as they are working for the same goal. In closing, Mrs. Lechler said our aim was to turn out a beautifully fitted pattern in our children, regardless of size.

Tells of Redistricting
C. F. Scotten spoke on "An Ideal Pattern." He spoke of the redistricting of schools and used a printed form listing various reasons for this plan.

Ed Martin, principal of the Jefferson school spoke on "Evolving patterns in Education." He stressed the fact that the only constant thing in this life of ours is change. Patterns of like change just as patterns in education. Teachers can set a pattern said Mr. Martin, but they must be completed in the home. In closing, Mr. Martin stated patterns for education have shifted, will shift more.

Miss Wilford Dee, state publicity chairman, spoke on "Patterns in publicity." She stated that patterns in Parent Teacher Units for publicity, like all other, must be cut to fit community and the unit it must be flexible. Publicity to the public and members may be given through the papers, posters, telephone calls, bulletins, personal contact and school papers. In reporting to the papers remember accuracy and that names are news. Give who, what, where, why and when and give events in their importance. In following the procedure out lined, it will be easier for the editors to write up the events.

Mrs. Paul Bertheux presented several organ numbers during the afternoon and Mrs. Vernon Frieze of Warsaw, by request, presented three piano selections, followed by the community singing led by Mrs. Lloyd Kirkpatrick.

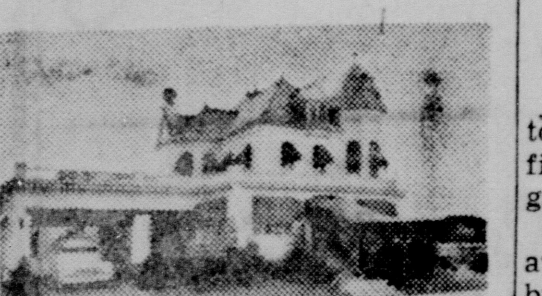

Mrs. M. E. Green of Sedalia presided at the question and answer forum at which time announcements were made.

At the close of the business session, Mrs. Verney Engholm was presented a lamp by the various councils present.

Ladies of the church served the noon day luncheon in the basement of the church.

The meeting adjourned at 3:00 o'clock.

Music will be furnished by the Smithton Methodist church choir. Immediately after the services in Smithton, the body will be taken by auto to Carrollton where graveside services will be held in the afternoon.

Interment will be made in a cemetery there.

Mrs. Sanders is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Orville Taylor of Felt, Okla., and Mrs. J. D. Neuman of Carrollton; one son, Elmer Rhoades of Chicago, Ill. The following step-children also survive: Mrs. A. F. Smith of Syracuse, Mo.; Mr. R. Dinwiddie of Raymore, Mo.; Arthur Sanders of Ottaville and Walker Sanders of Florence.

Tractor-Trailer Hits a Culvert

A large trailer truck owned by the Hall feed company at Clinton, Ark., and driven by Andrew Kirkendall hit a culvert on highway fifty, thirteen miles west of here about 11:00 o'clock Monday night. The tractor's front axle was shoved back under the cab and the tractor and the trailer topped in to a ditch on its side.

According to the Sedalia police department, Kirkendall was picked up by a passing car and brought to the police station where he made contact with state trooper Wayne Allman who accompanied him back to the scene of the mishap.

Kirkendall escaped with only minor scratches and cuts. He told local police that the trailer was loaded with feed.

ed across the Potomac river immediately adjacent to National airport.

The military plane may have been operating from one of these, but there was no definite word immediately on that.

First reports said the smaller plane disintegrated immediately after the collision.

Rescue Crews to Scene

All available ambulances and doctors were called immediately to the scene.

P. M. Clifford of Washington, who witnessed the collision, said the smaller plane plunged into the Potomac and disappeared.

"I was driving south when I suddenly looked up," Clifford said. "I saw a ball of fire and a trail of smoke about 300 feet above the ground and one plane falling."

"I parked my car and ran to the river bank. I saw them bring a woman out of the wreckage and several men. They were terribly battered. I could not stand to look any more."

Account of Crash

The CAA gave this account of the actual crash:

As Broux came back toward the National airport field he asked for landing instructions and was advised by the tower that he was second to come down, behind the EAL flight.

The tower ordered Broux to circle the field so as to come in behind the commercial ship. He did not acknowledge the call, which the control tower repeated several times.

Tower observers saw him coming straight in and called to him to pull up. There was no indication that he heard or understood the order.

Bolivian embassy officials said he was their country's best pilot who had been trained in various U. S. schools and at Randolph Field. He was 28.

Massive chunks of the passenger plane was strewn along the shore of the Potomac within 30 feet of the highway. Most of the passenger compartments collapsed and sank beneath the water.

Bodies were hurled more than 150 feet to the shore. Personal effects, clothing, and other items were picked from trees and bushes where the impact had thrown them.

Quick End To Strikes Is Hope

long the steel industry could continue to operate—in the event of a nationwide strike settlement—without call of John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers continued their seven-week-old walkout. Coal supplies of major steel companies are a closely guarded secret at all times. Some companies, however, are believed to have sufficient coal stocks to permit normal operations for a month. All steel companies are dependent upon a metallurgical coal mined by Lewis' UMW members for an adequate supply.

New Strike Starts

A new steel strike started shortly after Murray sent out orders for Bethlehem's 80,000 workers to return to their jobs. The new walkout was at Allegheny-Ludlum Steel Corp., where 12,500 of Murray's men quit as negotiations collapsed.

Bethlehem's breaking of the solid front of the steel industry against Murray's pension-insurance demands recalled that it was Bethlehem, too, that became the first big steel firm to accept the idea of President Truman's steel fact-finding board.

Officials here were of the opinion the Bethlehem settlement gave the workers more than the board had recommended.

But in return, Bethlehem got a contract commitment that the welfare benefit plan won't be touched for a five-year period. Also, the present contract was extended for two years, postponing talk of any wage increase until late 1950.

Government mediators were considering issuing an invitation to bring coal peace talks to Washington. Negotiations between John L. Lewis' striking miners union and southern coal operators were to resume today (2 p. m. CST) at Bluefield, W. Va.

Meeting Held by Milk Producers

A meeting of milk producers of Pettis county was held in the Assembly Room of the court house today, which got underway about 10 a. m.

Wallace Cordes, chairman of the committee in this county, opened the meeting, and introduced County Agent Roy I. Coplen, who announced the program for the day and spoke briefly of artificial breeding to improve dairy industry in the county. It was brought out at the meeting that 1224 cows have been bred through the artificial program in the Sedalia district between October 1, 1948 to September 30, this year.

Warren Nordyke, manager of M. F. A. breeding association at Springfield, and Leon Palmer, field man, were morning speakers. The principal speaker this afternoon was Homer Cloninger, dairy extension specialist of University of Missouri. He discussed feeding, testing, culling, pasture management, disease control and answered questions.

The following committeemen were elected this afternoon: Wallace Cordes of Spring Fork; William McCune of Spring Fork; Gene Helman of Sedalia; Leo Hoehns of Smithton; Donald Arnett of LaMonte; C. L. Scott of LaMonte; T. W. Peters of Sedalia; Robert Henderson of Ottaville; Bob Campbell of Spring Ford and William Caton of Smithton.

The morning program dealt with artificial breeding and the afternoon session consisted of dairy management.

Judy Must Reduce Else Lose Role

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 1—(AP)—Judy Garland must shed some pounds or else lose another top role.

MGM bosses huddled yesterday to discuss the possible removal of the singing star from her role in "Summer Stock" and even possible suspension.

A studio spokesman said Judy is some eight pounds overweight and was up for possible suspension because she had ignored another order to reduce.

However, she pleaded for "Just one more chance" and it was given her. She also reportedly did not show up for a studio rehearsal last Saturday.

Last spring, her role in "Annie Get Your Gun" was given to Betty Hutton when MGM said Judy failed to report on a set after lunch. She was suspended for several months then and was reinstated after some time at a Boston clinic.

Italy Faces a Political Crisis

By the Associated Press

The Italian government is facing a political crisis today following the walkout of three anti-Communist Socialist cabinet ministers.

Those resigning were vice Premier Giuseppe Saragat, leader of the Italian Socialist Labor party (PSLI) and two other party members.

They left the coalition cabinet of Premier Alcide De Gasperi because of a bitter row within the moderate Socialist ranks.

Premier De Gasperi said he would attempt to persuade the three to return to his government. He seemed certain to continue as leader of a reshuffled cabinet since his Christian Democrat party won a heavy majority in the 1948 elections.

At Lake Success, a special United Nations group began finalizing its recommendations on the future of Italy's prewar African colonies.

The committee has agreed on independence for Libya by 1952, and for Italian Somaliland by 1959. It recommended that a five-nation committee of inquiry go to Eritrea to report on the situation there.

Faithful Old Pigeon is Dead

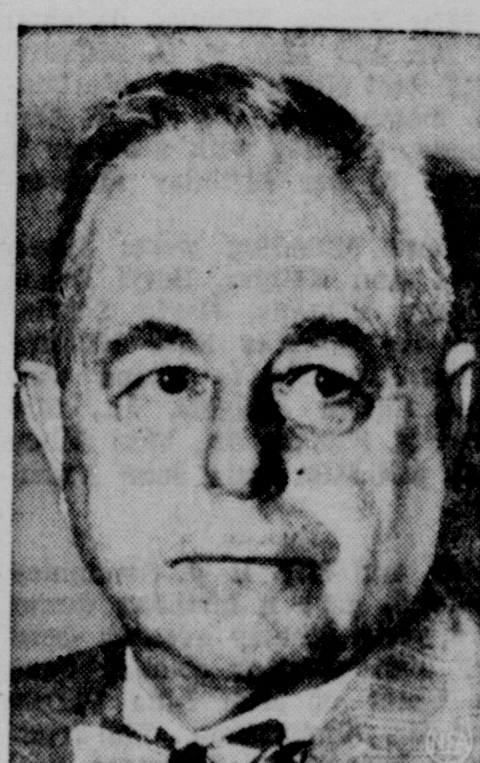

FORT MONMOUTH, N.J., Nov. 1—(AP)—One of Uncle Sam's most faithful soldiers died last night. He was Kaiser, the army's 32-year-old carrier pigeon, who had outlived a dozen wives and served his adopted country through two World Wars.

Back in World War I, American doughboys found Kaiser in a German front line trench during the Meuse-Arnonne offensive. They put the well-trained carrier pigeon to work against the Germans.

During World War II the army used Kaiser to train other pigeons, some of them his own great-great-great-grandchildren.

The bird's final resting place will be in the Smithsonian institution in Washington, D. C. The long-time signal corps mascot will be mounted and displayed there.

Tax Paying Time Arrives

In place of forming a line at the tax windows as they did a year ago, taxpayers straggled to both the county and city collectors' offices to settle up their taxes with the county and city.

Today uncapped the two months' period in which taxes may be paid, before they become delinquent after December 31, 1949. An extra fee will be added to the taxes, which are paid after the dead line.

Miss Hazel Palmer attributed the untidy business today to the possibility that the taxpayers might be awaiting their tax statements, which are scheduled to be mailed out to approximately 15,000 county taxpayers in the near future.

The city and county collectors have collected some of this year's taxes, before the opening date today.

Electric Workers Withhold Dues

By Harold W. Ward

CLEVELAND, Nov. 1—(AP)—The United Electrical Workers, spearhead of the CIO's rebellious left wing, today announced it was withholding any further dues to the CIO—a certain first step toward its ouster.

In a defiant statement accusing CIO leadership of following a "program of raiding, union-busting and red-baiting hypocrisy," UE President Albert J. Fitzgerald said the next step "is up to the CIO."

U. E. delegates walked off the convention floor shortly afterwards. Fitzgerald said they were going home. U. E. officers have not been attending the convention although delegates were there.

There was little doubt that President Philip Murray of the CIO would accept the challenge quickly. The groundwork for removing the U. E., with approximately 450,000 members, was laid by constitutional changes approved last night for action by the CIO convention today or tomorrow.

Eleven other so called left wing unions also face ouster by CIO, but Fitzgerald said it would be up to them whether they followed the U. E. example of withholding the per capita tax to the CIO.

climbing between the seventh and eighth floor when the second explosion occurred and was knocked down a flight of approximately 20 stairs.

Knocked Off Feet

Aaron Trail, a postoffice superintendent, told the following story: "I was walking down the hall when the first blast occurred. The impact blew me down the corridor about 50 feet. The hall was gutted with smoke and I tried to make my way to a window to get out. As I reached there the second blast occurred and knocked me off my feet. By this time the whole eighth floor was so black with smoke that I couldn't see and couldn't get out. Finally, after approximately 20 minutes, a fireman helped me to a stair well."

Trail's hair was singed and he suffered cuts on the back of his neck.

Among those who left hastily was Postmaster General Donaldson, whose office is on the third floor.

W. F. Airey, an electrician, told reporters he turned in the alarm. He said the saw smoke coming from a room in which electrical equipment is housed, and was on his way to locate the source when—

"I heard an explosion like a cannon shot."

By the time he turned in the alarm and could get to a staircase, Airey said, "the smoke was so thick I got dizzy."

Airey said he thought the explosions were set off by a faulty transformer.

1000 pipes. The console is at the right. The installing of a pipe organ is quite a feat with so many pipes of all kinds that must be just right. So many connections, so many little things as well as big things that go into building the organ pipes right into the church. And yet the men installing the organ from St. Louis do not play, although one of them has been installing organs for 30 years. But they know the tones, they know where every little piece must go and when it has been installed to their complete satisfaction their job is done. They leave the music that comes from it to the organists.

One Used 60 Years
The new organ replaces an old Kilgen pipe organ which has been in the church 60 years. The church was built in 1882 and six years later the Kilgen was installed in the church at the time the late Rev. J. Ross Stevenson was pastor of the church. Dr. Stevenson later became president of Princeton university and was one of the greatest presidents of any American university.

W. M. Johns, a member of the organ committee for the new organ, also served on the organ committee 60 years ago and the first wedding music played on that organ was for his wedding.

Was First Organist
The first organist was Mrs. Jessie Potter Snead. Later Mrs. Jessie Snead became organist and for over 40 years served as organist and giving through all those years a high standard and quality of church music.

The new organ will not be quite as complete as the church members want it at the dedication. The walnut grill-work will not be placed until the first of the year, but it will be something of real beauty when finished for it will be the same design of the huge stained glass window of the church.

The public is invited to attend the dedication service Sunday morning and the vespers service in the afternoon.

Ask For More To The Schools

"We have scraped the barrel for funds for our schools," he said he could foresee only an eight-month school term in Kansas City this year unless additional support is forthcoming from the state.

C. G. Sagaser of Atlanta, farmer and newspaper publisher, said he was urging the extra appropriation because he wanted to give his six children adequate education.

He said the best teachers of Macon county have been leaving for better salaries in other states, most of them going to Iowa.

"It is up to the state to provide this extra money for the schools," Sagaser said, "unless you want to take the election of county assessors out of politics."

J. J. Fitzgerald, member of the St. Louis board of education, said the St. Louis schools face a $1,600,000 deficit this year. He said the city's share of the extra appropriation would greatly aid in meeting the deficit.

Was Injured in Fall
Miss Pearl Rose is confined to her home, 1400 East Fourteenth street, because of injuries received in a fall down some steps Thursday. Both legs were badly bruised.

Engel Does Not Testify In Defense

"Wizard Of Woo" Expressed Desire To Talk A Little

CHICAGO, Nov. 1—(P)—Sigmund (Sam) Engel, who the state alleges sweet-talked widows out of their wealth, was not allowed to utter a syllable in his defense today to a criminal court jury.

Although the 74-year-old wizard of woo expressed anxiety to get on the stand as soon as the prosecution closed its case against him, his attorneys rested their defense after questioning a few minor witnesses.

Confidence Game Charge

Engel is on trial on a charge of running a confidence game in which a Chicago widow, Mrs. Reseda Corrigan, 39, lost $8,700. She said Engel posed as a movie producer, promised to build a gigantic production around her singing voice and fled with her bankroll.

Other widows and divorcees told similar stories to the jurors. Some married Engel others, like Mrs. Corrigan, took the string of their purses before any nuptial knots were tied.

While the defense offered no explanation for not letting the defendant testify, the lawyers may have been prompted by Engel's behavior since his arrest in a woman-baited police trap last summer.

In the midst of the trial, while his lawyers were trying to break down the stories of the widows, Engel gave a courtroom spectator his autograph to which he appended "lover of 1001 women."

At one point in his talks with police he denied ever seeing the women marshaled against him. At another point he said all gave him their money freely, that he had not swindled them.

Blames 'Mythical' Twin Brother Then he blamed his mythical twin brother, Arthur, for causing all his trouble. It was Arthur, he said, who relieved Mrs. Pauline Langton of New York of a rich array of jewels after their marriage.

When Mrs. Langton cast herself in the role of his devoted wife, determined to stand by him for better or for worse, Engel promptly forgot about the marriage to Arthur and moved to a Chicago apartment with Mrs. Langton. He has been at liberty under bond during his trial.

Last week Engel promised that Arthur would appear in court today in his defense. Arthur failed to show up and reporters asked Engel where he was.

"No comment," Engel replied. The aging Engel was in a cocky mood again today. After the defense rested he told reporters:

"I'm going to be acquitted anyway. I don't hope—I know I'll be acquitted. The state has no case against me."

President Signs The Farm Bill

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—(P)—President Truman Monday signed long-range farm legislation which permits the government to support prices of most farm products at or near wartime levels.

The measure—passed by the present Democratic Congress—replaces most major provisions of the so-called Aiken law enacted by the Republican 80th Congress. The GOP law permitted somewhat lower supports for major crops.

President Favored Parity The new law gives the secretary of agriculture authority to support virtually every farm product at 90 per cent of parity if he thinks that is advisable. Mr. Truman and Secretary of Agriculture Brannan have indicated they favor 90 per cent supports, as a general rule, to keep agriculture prosperous.

Except for the first year—1950—the department also has discretionary authority to drop farm price guarantees below 90 per cent of parity, but only within limits fixed by legislation.

The government supports prices by buying in the open market at the support price, or by making loans to the producer with his produce as security. Parity is a legal price standard designed to give farmers a fair return for their products in relation to the things they must buy.

Ask $100,000 For An Architectural Survey

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 1—(P)—The Senate appropriations committee Monday was asked to provide $100,000 for an architectural survey of the state highway department's office building here.

Carl W. Brown, chief highway engineer, and Lue C. Lozier, general counsel for the department, appeared in behalf of the appropriation.

Brown said the commission wants to determine whether it is advisable to construct additional stores or new wings for the building.

The building, finished in 1928, is now inadequate to take care of all the department's operations, Brown said. The department recently has taken on additional duties, including a statewide traffic survey, safety program, compensation for its workers, while the maintenance program has expanded widely.

Assistant Attorney General C. B. Burns, Jr., asked the committee to approve a $100,000 item for a revolving fund for court costs in cases handled by the attorney general's office.

State Auditor William H. Holmes requested $50,000 to make a general audit of the state highway department.

The committee took no action on the items in the bill already passed by the House last June.

Farmer Loses Arm In A Corn Picker

NEW CASTLE, Ind., Nov. 1—(P)—A 65-year-old farmer, Charles Rothrock, amputated his own right hand Monday after it became caught in the same corn picker in which his wife lost both of her legs seven years ago.

After cutting off his hand he ran a quarter of a mile to the home of his brother, Eugene, and was driven to Henry county hospital. He was reported in fair condition.

Rothrock's wife, Clara, lost one leg above the knee and the other below the knee in the 1942 accident. She walks on artificial legs and helps with farm work. Tonight she said:

"Lots of people have worse luck than we have."

Handicap Vet Automobile Bill Gets Vetoed

Act Would Result In Wholesale Inequities And Lead To Abuses

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—(P)—Pres. Truman Monday vetoed a bill authorizing federal payments up to $1,600 on the cost of automobiles for certain handicapped veterans of World War I and II.

Mr. Truman said the measure would create "wholesale inequities" and "lead to abuses."

Under the present law, the government supplies autos to World War II veterans who lost a leg.

Disapproved By President The measure disapproved by Mr. Truman would have made government gifts of automobiles to veterans of both the last two wars who lost a hand or leg or were blinded in the service.

Mr. Truman said the vetoed bill would have provided motorcars to a veteran who has suffered the loss of a hand and who may be rated as 60 or 70 per cent disabled "although his mobility may be impaired only slightly, if at all."

"At the same time, a much larger number of veterans rated as high as 100 per cent disabled, but without the specific disabilities covered by this proposal, will not receive automobiles," the President said in a statement.

Cars Not A Necessity "Nor is an automobile necessary," Mr. Truman said, "for the

Hallowe'en Pranks Lead To A Shooting

LECOMPTON, Kas., Nov. 1—(P)—Hallowe'en pranks led to a shooting in which a youth was wounded in the foot last night.

Sheriff's officers are holding Glenn Robert Hatch, 22, of LeCompton, in the county jail at Lawrence for investigation in the wounding of "Red" Andrews, 17, of LeCompton.

The officers quoted Hatch as saying he warned a group of pranksters away from his home and tried to bluff them with a .22 caliber pistol. They called his bluff, Hatch told the officers, and the shooting resulted.

Andrews was taken to the hospital at Lawrence, where his condition was reported not serious.

Boys Undo Their Hallowe'en Work

CANTON, Nov. 1—(P)—After a hard night's work hoisting buggies onto store roofs, a fellow needs his sleep.

But six youths were awakened shortly after 4 a. m. Monday in Hartville community northwest of here.

Sheriffs deputies routed the boys from their beds to "finish up their night's work" by returning the buggies to their owners. The sleepy boys couldn't remember which buggy belonged to which farmer. It took almost four hours to get them all back in the proper barns.

Hartville residents are hoping rehabilitation of each and every veteran who has lost one or both hands.

"If we abandon sound principles of rehabilitation, it is not clear how or where we can stop this progressive expansion of the granting of automobiles short of providing one for every disabled veteran."

Minister's Wife Sets A Record

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 1—(P)—Mrs. E. K. Griffith, at 79, holds some sort of a record as a minister's wife.

She was married to the Rev. Zebbedee Thomas 2 months short of 50 years. Two years after his death she married the Rev. E. K. Christie at Sedalia and they moved here. That was 10 years ago.

Mr. Christie, a Baptist minister, is 95 years old. As a child of 5 he was given a personal slave which was owned in his own name until Emancipation Day.

Two Grapplers Gunning For Title Honors

Will Meet in Local Ring Wednesday Night In Showdown Match

Wednesday's Wrestling Matches In the Sedalia Armory

Feature Match—Wild Bill Longson, 235, Salt Lake City, vs. Jimmy Coffield, 227, Kansas City. Best two out of three falls, or 80-minute time limit.

Semifinal Match—Babe Zaharias, 240, Colorado Springs, Colo., vs. Big Mike Sharp, 265, Hamilton, Ontario. Best two out of three falls, or a 48-minute time limit.

Special Match—Cowboy Roy Graham, 240, Corsicana, Tex., vs. Johnny Swenski, 215, Linn, Mass. One fall, or a 30-minute time limit.

Auspices of the American Legion. Matchmaker—Pearl Christy. First match Wednesday starts at 8:30 p. m.

Wild Bill Longson, who drew tremendous crowds in the St. Louis Kiel Auditorium, will make his bid for Central Missouri recognition when he battles Jimmy Coffield in Wednesday night's featured American Legion wrestling match in the Sedalia Armory.

Longson has one of the best records in the heavyweight ranks. He also is a claimant to world title honors, but he is out to firmly establish his claim. Coffield has been trying to gain top contender spot and is anxious to meet the burly Salt Lake City wrestler.

A Confident Coffield

Coffield is confident that if he can out Longson from title contention he can demand a showdown match with the recognized titlist, Orville Brown. However, Longson is gunning for the same chance and he will use every trick in the books to eliminate the Coffield threat.

Another top-notch contest is scheduled for the semi-final when Big Mike Sharp of Hamilton, Ontario, makes his first return to the local ring in more than two years. Mike was a big drawing card here before and he hopes to regain the favor of the fans.

Sharp, who stands 6-foot-7, will meet the veteran Babe Zaharias and their match is expected to develop into a rugged battle. Mike is a vastly improved wrestler, having gained a wealth of experience during his campaign along the eastern seaboard. He now holds an NWA record of twenty victories out of twenty-four matches.

Cowboy Returns To Action

Cowboy Roy Graham is scheduled to return to action in the special event and will square off against the sensational New England heavyweight, Johnny Swenski of Linn, Mass. Swenski is a big name along the east coast and now is making a bid for mid-western recognition.

Swenski was a headliner in this region five years ago and his matches with the late Steve Brody will long be remembered by the fans. Brody was killed in action during World War II.

Attempt to Curb Hunting Accidents

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 1.—(Special)—In an attempt to curb the some 2,000 hunting accidents that occur during the fall seasons each year, the New England Outdoor Writers Association conducted a recent exhaustive study of such accidents in the United States and Canada.

The investigation revealed that deer and big game accounted for most of the accidents, followed by rabbits, upland birds and duck hunting in that order. Resident hunters caused 95 per cent of the casualties. The most frequent cause of hunting accidents is "person mistaken for game," number two was "not knowing the gun was loaded" and the third was "carrying a loaded gun in the car."

Hunting with the safety off and position of the hunter tied for fourth place. Following along in order was heavy concentration of hunters, faulty or obsolete firearms, mental incompetence, poor visibility, falling with loaded gun, deceptive clothing, faulty eyesight, and last place goes to "under the influence of liquor."

Two Unbeaten Teams To Meet at West Point

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Fordham will try to 'out-platoon' Army, the most successful platoon specialists in football, when the two unbeaten eastern teams collide Saturday at West Point.

Orville Brown Injured in Car Accident

Claimant of World's Wrestling Title Has Been in Sedalia Ring

BETHANY, Mo., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Orville Brown, 38, of Kansas City, and Robert Bruns, 35, of Hayward, Calif., heavyweight wrestlers, were injured seriously early today in an automobile collision.

Brown's Cadillac automobile was nearly demolished as he ran into a transport truck which had stalled on Highway 69 three miles north of Eagleville, Mo. The wrestlers were returning to Kansas City from a wrestling show at Des Moines last night.

Brown suffered a possible skull fracture, two deep head lacerations, a bad cut on the right forearm and glass cuts in the right eye. He lapsed into unconsciousness at the Bethany hospital, arrangements were made to take him to Kansas City as soon as possible.

Brun suffered a fractured shoulder.

S-C "B" Team Journeys To Windsor Tonight

The Smith-Cotton sophomore and freshman team will clash with the Windsor "A" team tonight at 8 o'clock at Windsor.

The Tiger griders overpowered Windsor 10 to 6 two weeks ago at Liberty Park, and the Windsor footballers will be out to even the count.

So far this season, the S-C underclassmen have won two, lost one, and tied one. Tonight's tilt will be next to the final engagement this season.

Bands on Fowl Provide Valuable Information

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 1.—(Special)—Hunters are urged to watch for bands on the ducks and geese they kill this fall and to turn the bands in to the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Band numbers consist of two sets of figures, both of which are needed to identify the bird. Cooperators are urged to record the band numbers in the letter as well as flatten out and enclose the band itself, since bands returned in the mail occasionally tear through the envelope and are lost.

Football Poll Rated Missouri In 31st Place

By Jack Hand

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Notre Dame continues to roll up the score in the Associated Press football poll with 83 per cent of the first place votes in the fifth weekly ratings.

New faces come and go in the top 10 but nobody is close to the Fighting Irish who were ranked first by 133 of the 161 sports writers and sportscasters participating.

Army is second, Oklahoma third and California fourth, just like last week. The "Big Four" cornered all but three of the first place ballots. Oklahoma drew 11, Army 10 and California three. The others went to tenth place Michigan State (2) and to seventh place Cornell (1).

Out of Top 10

Minnesota and Pennsylvania nosed out of the top 10 after their respective defeats by Purdue and Pittsburgh. Southern Methodist and Michigan State took their places.

Michigan, the only other team except Notre Dame to lead the poll this season, gained support by topping Illinois, 13-0. As a result the Wolverines advanced a peg from sixth to fifth.

The total vote with points figured on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis (first place votes in parentheses).

Nebraska Can Lose All-Time Leadership

Sooners Have Chance to Deadlock All-Time Standings

By Jerry Sullivan

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The Nebraska Cornhuskers, who have already this season surrendered their all-time conference leadership in the percentage column to Oklahoma, face a stretch run to retain first place in the number of games won.

The Sooners, the Big Seven's highest ranking team nationally, can move into a tie Saturday with Nebraska in the games won column.

Oklahoma needs a victory at Manhattan against Kansas State coupled with a Nebraska loss to Kansas at Lawrence to deadlock the all-time figures.

71 Victories

Currently ranked No. 3 nationally and undefeated this year, Oklahoma has chalked up 71 conference victories. The Sooners' total games won in conference competition since the Big Six, the Big Seven's predecessor, started in 1928 now stands at 71. They have 28 losses and 9 ties. Nebraska has three conference games remaining, Oklahoma has two left.

Wildcat Homecoming
The game at Manhattan will be a homecoming affair for the battered Kansas State Wildcats, but even that isn't counted on to give them much hope against Oklahoma.

The Sooners were to learn today whether quarterback Darrell Royal and fullback Ed Lisak will be ready Saturday.

While Oklahoma is playing Kansas State, Nebraska will go up against Kansas.

Missouri Halfback Injured

Missouri, getting ready to invade Colorado, didn't work out yesterday. Coach Don Faurot reported Halfback Bob Henley may be out for the season with a foot injury.

Iowa State expects to be near top shape against Drake in a non-conference game Saturday.

Lightweight Crown Will Be on The Line Nov. 28

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Freddie Dawson of Chicago, who has failed to lick lightweight champion Ike Williams in three non-title efforts, gets another opportunity here Nov. 28 and this time the crowd will be on the line.

Promoter Phil Glassman announced yesterday that Trenton Ike — undisputed boss of the 135 pounders since August 4, 1947 — had signed to defend his title for the fifth time.

Cage Practice Underway at Smith-Cotton

First Basketball Encounter Will be With Tipton Nov. 22

The Smith-Cotton basketball team started regular practice last week, in preparation for the first cage meet, which will be with Tipton there on November 22. The first conference game will be played with Jefferson City here on December 9.

James N. Ball, Smith-Cotton basketball coach, said fifteen players are working out now, and would have to carry on with that number until after football season terminates, around the latter part of November. About six top cage players are with the football team.

Coach Ball announced six lettermen were with the varsity, five of them are seniors. They are Ralph Walker, Bill Holst, Bill Brown, Bill Morgan, junior, Bill Berry and Marvin Lakenau. The coach said four other boys look promising. They are Dean Edwards, senior; Donald Decker, junior; Bill Cooper, a 6 foot three inch sophomore, who played on the B team last year, and Eddie Johnson, a transfer student from Moberly.

Howard Glavin will coach the B basketball team and will assist Ball with the varsity.

Tiger Statistics

In thirteen regular scheduled basketball games, the Tiger basketballers rolled up a total of 704 points over their opponents' 494 points. During the 1948-49 schedule the Tigers lost their first game with Tipton 34-41, and in an overtime lost 46-48 to Jefferson City. In the next tilt with Jefferson City the local team won 57-56.

Out of 23 games last year, the Tigers won 20, and rolled up high scores, such as 70-28 over Kemper; 55-27 over Columbia; 72-42 over College High, and again tallied trouncing scores over some three teams in return meets.

The Tigers took second place in the conference tourney. Hannibal and Jefferson City seemed to furnish the Tigers with keen rivalry in cage meets.

Cleveland Indians Reduce Farm System

CLEVELAND, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians today announced elimination of four Class D clubs of their baseball farm system.

They are: Cordelle, Ga.; Stroudsburg, Pa.; Iowa, Kansas and Union City, Tenn.

The cuts reduced the baseball club's minor league holdings to a total of 13 teams.

General Manager Rudie Schaffer indicated that one more club might also be eliminated, probably in Class C.

Tribe officials said they expected to make up for the cut in player personnel by an intensive farm club spring training camp. They explained the camp would permit looking over some 400 baseball hopefuls without having to keep them on the roster an entire season.

Tommy Wright Topped List of Golf Qualifiers

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 1.—(AP)—The 47th north and south open golf tournament got under way today.

Tommy Wright, a lanky veteran pro from Kingsport, Tenn., led the list of 118 qualifiers yesterday with a snappy 67, five under par for the No. 2 championship country club course, a 6,952-yard strip.

Southwest Is a Stout Grid Leader

Major Conference Check Picks South Weakest in Land

By Will Grimsley

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The normally robust south has turned anemic in football this year and most of the red corpuses seem to have escaped to the Pacific coast.

A check of major conferences against outside opposition shows the southwest a stout leader and the southern the weakest in the land.

The Southeastern, a veritable bowl incubator down through the years, is better than holding its own but is not showing the old time punch. Its bowl candidates are negligible.

Conference Breakdown

Southwest Conference W. L. T. Pct.
Ivy League 18 5 1 .783
Pac. Coast Conference 18 7 2 .720
Southeastern Conference 18 10 3 .643
Big Seven 12 7 1 .632
Big Ten 10 8 2 .556
Missouri Valley 13 13 2 .500
Skyline Six 9 12 1 .429
Southern Conference 10 31 2 .244

Football Player In A Critical Condition

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Buddy Joe Arenberg, 17-year-old backfield star at Lillis high school here, was in a critical condition at a hospital here from a head injury suffered in a football game Oct. 8.

He collapsed while practicing Oct. 18, after it was believed he had recovered from the earlier injury.

Missouri Pacific Shop News

Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas and son Buddy, left Saturday morning for St. Louis where Mrs. Thomas entered the Missouri Pacific hospital for medical attention. Mr. Thomas is carman welder and former manager of the Junior Legion baseball team.

John Blue has been appointed general machine shop foreman, succeeding the late Connie Michaels.

K. V. Larsen, stripping gang foreman, was called to Parsons, Kas., last week on account of the death of a relative.

Walter Bender, who bid in a foreman's position at Little Rock, Ark., has been transferred back to Sedalia following some supervisory changes.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barrick have returned home after spending a vacation visiting relatives and friends in Washington, D. C., and attending a wedding of their daughter at Parkersburg, West Va. Mr. Barrick is a crane fitter.

Ora Stroup, sheet metal worker, who has been a patient of the Missouri Pacific hospital in St. Louis for the past several weeks, is getting along fine but will not be able to return to work for several weeks.

Mrs. William Donoth, wife of machinist, has entered the Missouri Pacific hospital for medical attention. Mr. Donoth who was working for the Katy at Parsons temporarily, returned home and accompanied his wife to St. Louis.

Mrs. David Sumners, widow of the late David Sumners, who was a pipe fitter at the shops, has returned to her home in Portland, Ore., after spending several weeks visiting relatives and friends in Sedalia.

Engines 49, 5327, 1462 and 1537 which have been overhauled at the shops were released last week for service. Most of these engines were ready for service when the shops closed and it was a matter of inspecting and breaking them in so they would be ready for road service.

Rex Warren, Arthur Bethke, Conrad Stratton and Fred Anton, machinists who have been working for the M. K. T. at Parsons, returned to work at the shops the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Erhart have returned home after spending a few days visiting relatives and friends in Falls City, Neb. Mr. Erhart is a machinist helper. G. C. Morris, Jr., has resumed his duties as electrician apprentice after completing a term of service at the U. S. Navy.

George Hull, carman foreman, is taking a two-weeks vacation.

Large Crowd At Pie Supper

The Lamine school held its annual pie social Friday, October 21, with a large crowd attending.

LONG-RANGE "DELIVERY WAGON" FOR ARMED FORCES—Pictured above is a scale model of the XH-16 helicopter now being developed for the armed forces by the Piasecki Helicopter Corp., Morton, Pa. The twin-tandem rotored model will be the largest rotary-wing craft ever built, and is expected to have the longest range of any helicopter. The large detachable compartments, in combination with the main cabin space, will enable the ship to carry large numbers of troops, litter patients or military supplies. The XH-16 is expected to be completed some time next year.

strumental numbers, James Steele, Jimmy Satterwhite and Mrs. William Hurt. William Hammond of Windsor acted as auctioneer. During the evening a goose was given away to Mr. Harve Ellis. The proceeds amounted to $121.15. Roy L. Potter is the Lamine teacher.

Good Time At Hallowe'en Celebration

Sedalia Lions Club
Sponsored Event
At Smith-Cotton Hi

The Smith-Cotton high school auditorium was a haunted house of goblins, witches, clowns and monkeys Monday night. They were there for the annual Hallowe'en party sponsored by the Sedalia Lions club.

The first event on the program this year was a parade which followed a new route. It went down Osage avenue from Third street to Main street from here they went to Ohio avenue and from there to the Smith-Cotton auditorium for the party.

The order of the parade was: police escort, mounted escort, Smith-Cotton band, the costumed people and a patrol escort.

Contest Are Held

The first contest was apple bobbing for the 2 year to 5 year age group. The winners of this group were: first, Sandra Jo Crow; second, Barbara Jo Adams. The second a contest for the 6 years to the 9 year age group was a cracker eating contest, winners, Billy Harris, first and Ned Kehle and John Cross tied for second.

The next event for the 9 year to the 12 year age group was a little harder. It was the cracker-whistle contest where the contestant had to eat crackers and then whistle. The winners were: first, Stella Knatal and second was James White. There was a third place tie between David Hall and Charlotte Huston.

The fourth contest was for the 12 year and the 17 year age group a pie eating contest. The winners are: first, Stella Knatal and second J. M. Maxwell.

This concluded the first contests and the costume judging was next on program.

Prizes For Costumes

The winners in the costume judging were: 2-7 year group, first, Ted Wells; second, Gary Lee Coight; third, Richard Richardson; 7-17 year group, first, Myrna Miller; second, Judy Rissler; third, Margaret Eickhoff; all age couples group, first, Charlotte Huston, and Sue Heckart; second, Gary Voight and Bob Younger Jr.; third, Albert Fox and Jimmie Byrnes.

The grand judging of all costumes, all ages, took place as the last event on the program. The winners were: first, Ted Wells; second, Gary Lee Voight and Bob Younger Jr.; third, Myrna Miller.

Billy Woodard won the only prize for a decorated vehicle.

There was a large and very enthusiastic crowd in attendance at the party with more arriving all the time.

Tree In Memory of Mrs. Sarah Cotton

Monday morning at 9:00 o'clock Smith-Cotton high school students planted a magnolia tree in memory of Mrs. Sarah E. Cotton who gave the land on which Smith-Cotton high school is built. The ceremony took place in front of the high school building from 9 to 9:17 a. m. with Bill Franklin, senior council president, in charge of the program.

Bob Van Horn made the opening remarks, paying tribute to Mrs. Cotton and he introduced the speaker, Leo Eickhoff who made the dedication address.

Leo Eickhoff Speaks
Eickhoff spoke on Mrs. Cotton's family part in founding Sedalia and how the city came to be named after Mrs. Cotton. He then talked on the living memorial tree and how this tree in years to come would stand as a memorial to Mrs. Cotton and would be a student landmark for many years.

Van Horn then closed the ceremony describing the senior council presidents part in the program while Bill Franklin placed the first spade of dirt around the tree. He closed with the slogan of having this tree stand as a reminder of "honesty; loyalty; and consideration."

The ceremony was viewed by the executive committees of both junior and senior councils. The ceremony was brought to the classes over the high school's public address system.

Five Injured Over A Piece Of Burned Toast

ATLANTA, Nov. 1—(P)—Something began to burn at a restaurant. A woman employed smelled it and called the firemen.

A fire truck roared out from its station. In its rush, it barely missed one private truck, jumped a lawn and piled into another truck.

The truck driver and three firemen were hurt.

One of the firemen had a motorcycle patrolman brother. The policeman heard about the wreck and lit out for the hospital to see his brother.

His motorcycle hit and slightly injured a woman.

That made five persons hurt, a fire truck and another truck smashed. And the fire? It was a piece of burning toast.

Binaggio Is 'Cut-In' For His 'Influence'

Shared In Profits Of Beer Distributing With An Associate

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 1—(P)—Two witnesses told a federal grand jury here that Charlie Binaggio, chief contender for control of the old Pendergast political machine, shared in profits from a beer distributing business in exchange for influence, it was disclosed today.

The testimony was given by Nathan L. Bassin, owner of the Duke Sales Company, beer distributing firm, and Max Ducov, a former owner, as witnesses before the grand jury last Friday.

A transcript of their testimony was filed in district court today in connection with contempt citations against the two witnesses.

The grand jury, in an investigation of underworld activities here, charged that Ducov and Bassin gave evasive answers in lengthy questioning last Friday.

Each Get 25-Per-Cent
Bassin testified that Binaggio and Tony Gizzo, a Binaggio associate, each received 25 per cent of the Duke Sales Company profits.

"It's their influence that lands customers for me," Bassin testified. "With their contacts and influence and with their cooperation and help I am a successful businessman."

Binaggio, one - time underling of the late "Boss" Tom Pendergast, now controls the Democratic vote in four populous north side city wards. His forces are opposed by a faction of the old group led by Pendergast's nephew, James Pendergast. Binaggio's political influence has been the subject of special articles in two recent issues of national magazines.

Ducov testified that he formerly owned the beer firm, buying it from Gizzo at the suggestion of Binaggio. Ducov told the grand jury he agreed to the arrangement under which Binaggio and Gizzo would take half the profits.

Costly Inaugural Trip
Ducov said he sold the company to Bassin, his brother-in-law, early last year for $2,500 and remained as sales manager. In the next six months the profits were between $18,000 and $20,000.

Gizzo and Binaggio each received $7,500 as their shares for 1947, and $5,000 apiece last year, Ducov testified.

Ducov, under questioning about his income tax payments, told the grand jury he spent $600 or $700 for clothes, including a high silk hat, before attending the inauguration of President Truman.

this year. He testified he spent $3,000 for the trip.

He said he plays gin rummy for a cent a point, and added: "It never cost more than $100. I seldom win."

Testifying further concerning his activities, Ducov said:

"I'm in what you call a hand-book operation, baseball and football, with a fellow named Dave Kramer."

St. Louis Architect Employed By State

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 1—(P)—Marcel Boulicault, a St. Louis architect, was selected late Monday by the state board of public buildings to prepare plans for a new state office building. More than 35 architectural firms seeking the contract were considered by the board before the selection was announced.

Boulicault has designed and prepared plans for a number of state institutions and other buildings. He also has prepared plans for bridge approaches crossing the Mississippi river from St. Louis county.

The board's action in the selection of Boulicault was unanimous. Members of the board are Gov. Forrest Smith, Lieut. Gov. James T. Blair, Jr., and Attorney General J. E. Taylor.

Earlier today the board heard representatives of the Governor Hotel who want to use some of the same Capitol avenue frontage sought by the state. The hotel wants to build an addition on its present parking lot, part of which the state wants to take for the $3,000,000 office building.

A New Attack On Missouri's Interest Rate

Want Violators Of 8-Per Cent Interest Law Reported Upon

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 1 — (P)—A new attack on Missouri's perennial interest rate problem was launched Monday in the state Senate.

Sen. William M. Quinn (D) of Maywood introduced a resolution asking the state finance commissioner to report on violations of the present law with its maximum eight per cent interest top. "Everyone seems agreed we should have an interest code," Quinn explained. "But there is wide disagreement as to the rate. If the finance commissioner can collect this information about law violations, maybe we'll have something to go on."

First Report December 1
Quinn said that if the finance commissioner cannot find out how lenders are violating the eight per cent rate—"and we all know they're doing it"—the Senate might be forced to conduct a formal investigation.

If the resolution is adopted, it would require the finance commissioner to make his first monthly report by Dec. 10. Quinn asked that the resolution be printed. He said he would call it up for action later.

As things stand, a joint House-Senate conference committee has agreed on an interest bill carrying a rate estimated at 25 to 30 per cent a year on loans up to $500. The House, however, has refused to approve this plan.

When the House recessed ten days ago, there were indications another effort would be made later to push the plan through. The Senate has not acted on the latest interest proposal.

Gayle's swallowed a bobby pin!

When her two-year-old daughter swallowed a bobby pin late one evening, Mrs. Chenoweth rushed to the telephone—and this series of calls followed. She says that she wouldn't even try to guess what these calls were really worth to her. But she can tell you what her actual cost was—less than 2c each! Mrs. Chenoweth knows the cost because she kept an accurate record of all her telephone conversations, then checked it against her monthly bill. "I never realized before," she reports, "how much the telephone helps me run our house, keep in touch with our friends and meet emergencies. It's a real bargain!"

To Mrs. Chenoweth's verdict, may we add: We're doing our best to make your telephone service a real bargain today . . . and to keep it growing in value every year. Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

Blasts Damage Federal Building at Washington D. C.

Fire Breaks Out And Employees in P. O. Department Flee Into Streets

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—(AP)—Fire, accompanied by a rumbling series of explosions, caused heavy damage to the $11,000,000 Postoffice Department building today and sent hundreds of government employees fleeing to the streets.

The blaze was confined to the eighth floor. But before firemen brought it under control, they poured tons of water into the columned, limestone structure on Pennsylvania Avenue between 12th and 13th streets, Northwest.

Smoke and water damage was heavy. There was no immediate official estimate of the loss, but a somewhat similar fire in 1935—soon after the building was constructed—caused $400,000 damage.

Twelve persons were treated at emergency hospital for injuries. They all had cuts or bruises from flying glass and debris. A section of the seventh floor ceiling fell in, injuring some. None was hurt seriously.

Robert Farrington, an Associated Press reporter, got a bad cut on the shoulder. A glass door behind him was blown out on the 7th floor while he was telephoning a report on the fire to his office.

Firemen Injured
Three firemen were taken to emergency hospital. They were overcome by smoke while fighting the blaze.

The building houses several agencies in addition to the Post-office Department.

Martin Levy, Federal Communications Commission lawyer, said the building was shaken heavily by the initial explosion.

"They felt like an earthquake," Levy said. "The ceiling in my seventh floor office fell in. Plaster hit me on the shoulder but I wasn't hurt, and got out by breaking a glass pane in the door."

Firemen said the blaze apparently began in an electrical transformer room. The first sign of trouble was a flickering of lights.

Courtyard Is Littered
The Postoffice building encloses a grassy courtyard. This was littered with plate glass and papers blown from the upper floors. Some of the glass was blown 200 feet.

One mail carrier said several people were walking across the open courtyard when the blast came.

"I was one of them," he said. "But no one was hurt, because we all got the hell out of there."

Even after the fire was under control, firemen still were trying to determine whether anyone was trapped at any place in the building.

There were reports that a woman was caught in an elevator between floors when the power failed with the first blast.

More than 30 pieces of fire fighting equipment were called into play. Using extension ladders, firemen took three people from the eighth floor.

Efforts to remove one man from the eighth floor were blocked by heavy ornamental bars. He was passed a smoke mask.

First district inspector W. B. Kelly said that the roof caved in on the eighth floor on the Pennsylvania and 12th street side of the building. He said that he was

Buy Field Jacket He Left at SAAF

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 1—(AP)—Adam E. Rider, 39, a carpenter, bought a field jacket at an army surplus store yesterday.

Inside the collar was his name and army serial number. He had left the jacket at the Sedalia, Mo., army air field when his outfit was sent to the South Pacific in March, 1944.

"That's one coat I'm not going to work in," Rider remarked. "If it wants to stay in the family that bad I'll just hang it up in the closet."

Near End To Strike Is Hope

Bethlehem Fires Up After an Agreement Was Reached Monday

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—(AP)—Bethlehem Steel's settlement with its strikers raised hopes for a general back-to-work agreement in the steel mills today and put new pressure behind government mediation efforts in the company's soft coal stoppage.

Mediation officials disclosed that their chief, Cyrus S. Ching, may call coal producers and United Mine Workers representatives to Washington Friday.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—(AP)—A welfare plan agreement that sends 80,000 striking CIO steel workers back to their jobs with Bethlehem Steel Corp., today buoyed government hopes for a quick end to both the steel and coal strikes.

Officials said they expect other steel firms will follow the footsteps of Bethlehem, the nation's second largest steel producer, signed an agreement last night to end the strike so far as this company was concerned.

The government officials said that now that a break has come in the steel strike, definite peace moves may be expected in coal because of the close relations of the two basic industries.

Bethlehem signed up in Cleveland last night with Philip Murray, president of the CIO and the striking steelworkers.

"We broke the line," Murray exulted. "From here on we move with a firmness of purpose and a determination that victory will attend our efforts."

Receive Paid Pensions
The precedent—making contract gives Bethlehem workers employer-paid pension starting at $100 a month, including the beneficiary's cost security system.

It also calls for a death, sickness, accident and hospital cost insurance plan with five cents an hour per worker, with employer and worker equally sharing costs.

Bethlehem has maintained a company-financed insurance system costing employees about 1 1/4 cents an hour.

The settlement on the steel strike's 31st day and the coal walkout's 43rd.

Ching Optimistic
The reaction was swift. Government mediation chief Cyrus S. Ching said he trusted "this settlement will lead to industrial peace in the steel industry generally, at a very early date."

U. S. Steel Corp., the biggest steel producer which has been holding out for workers paying part of pension costs, invited peace talks with Murray's union. U. S. Steel's President, Benjamin F. Fairless, said "of course we will study the Bethlehem settlement."

Officials expected Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp. and the Aluminum Company of America may be among the first strike to seek settlement terms after Bethlehem.

Industry sources said they could not accurately estimate how

Ask For More To The Schools

Urge Committee For an Extra Eight Million

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 1—(AP)—Missouri will continue to lose its best teachers to other states unless the schools get more money, the senate appropriations committee was told last night.

Educators urged the committee to approve an extra $8,000,000 appropriation for the public schools for the next two years. This would be in addition to the one-third general revenue already appropriated as state aid.

The committee took no action on the proposal. W. Virgil Cheek, member of the Springfield State College faculty and first vice president of the State Teachers' Association was the principal spokesman for the school men.

Cheek told the committee the average salary of the Missouri teacher today is nine per cent less than the average pay of all other employed persons, including garbage men and dishwashers.

Before the war the teacher's average salary in the state was 12 per cent more than the average of other employed persons, he said.

Cheek said it had been estimated state revenue will fall off during the next two years and unless the extra appropriation is made the schools will suffer.

Pledge Improvement
Hubert Wheeler, state commissioner of education, pledged that for every extra dollar appropriated for public schools "we will give you a dollar improvement in our schools."

Wheeler cited school improvement the last two years. In that time the number of teachers without college degrees has been reduced from 800 to 47; 1,102 districts have been merged and a classification program has been carried on.

John Bracken, superintendent of the Clayton schools, told the committee a championship teacher team "cannot be built in Missouri without money."

Superintendent Harold E. Moore of the Kansas City Schools said

New Organ to be Dedicated Sunday at Broadway Church

Organ pipes of both wood and metal and of all sizes are scattered over the Broadway Presbyterian church today but by Sunday every pipe will be in place and the new organ will be dedicated at the regular Sunday morning service at 10:45 o'clock. At the organ for the dedication will be a young high school girl, Miss Dorothy Ann Reed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Reed, 1006 West Seventh street, who has been the church organist there since December, 1947.

During the afternoon there will be a vespers service at 4:30 o'clock with Richard J. Helms, organist and minister of music at the Second Presbyterian church in Kansas City, at the organ.

Plans for the new organ at the Broadway Presbyterian church, of which Rev. D. Warren Neal, is pastor, began to take form a long time ago starting with the appointment of an organ committee by the board of trustees.

Members of the organ board are Mrs. H. C. Johnson, choir director, Mrs. Jessie Snead, Mrs. Charles L. Meyers, Mrs. Bert Valkenburg, W. M. Johns, O. Neal Powers and Rev. D. Warren Neal. The organ committee submitted their findings to the board of

Official Visit To Elks Lodge

High Officer be At Memorial Class Initiation

Wednesday night, Nov. 2, will be a big night for Sedalia Elks. Their building at Fourth street and Kentucky avenue will be the scene of the well prepared for event.

The district deputy Grand Exalted Ruler, J. Howard Hannah, will make his official visit to Sedalia lodge No. 125. Mr. Hannah is a Past Exalted Ruler of the Springfield, Missouri, lodge No. 409. He is the present district deputy for the Southwest Missouri district and will bring a personal message from Grand Exalted Ruler, Emmett T. Anderson.

A large class of candidates will be initiated Wednesday night. This class is known as the Burns McGinley Memorial class in tribute to a former member, who served faithfully as public relations officer of the lodge during World War II, when the local Elks club facilities were thrown open to soldiers of the Sedalia Air Base.

This is expected to be the biggest meeting of the year. Plenty of refreshments for everyone.

Over Fifty Killed In Planes' Collision

Allot Missouri $12,759,917 in Aid for Roads

Available When Missouri Has Its Share Ready

By Charles Haslet
AP Special Washington Service

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—(AP)—The government has allotted more than $31,000,000 to Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri for highway construction in the year starting next July 1.

The next allotments are: Oklahoma, $8,986,934; Kansas $9,422,140 and Missouri $12,759,917.

The public roads administration said that its latest figures show the states also have unspent balances from previous federal aid funds as follows: Oklahoma $3,297,000; Kansas $2,616,000 and Missouri, $5,363,000.

Adding the new figures and the balances, the states have on hand in federal aid allotments: Oklahoma, $12,283,934; Kansas, $12,038,140 and Missouri $18,122,917.

The federal aid money is to assist states in financing improvements of federal primary, secondary and urban routes.

Advanced a Month
Normally the apportionments for the next fiscal year are made in December but were advanced this year.

On September 30, the last report shows, Oklahoma had programmed 787 miles of new federal aid highways, estimated to cost $28,755,000, with $10,313,000 being federal funds.

Kansas has programmed a total of 1,340 miles to cost an estimated $11,789,000, of which $5,060,000 would be federal funds. Missouri has programmed $18 miles costing an estimated $28,886,000, with $14,560,000 as the federal share.

The federal aid apportioned to the states is available only after state projects get PRA approval and the state's share of the funds is made available.

In Oklahoma plans have been approved for 205 miles of federal aid roadway but construction had not started, the PRA said. The projects would cost an estimated $5,988,000 of which $3,149,000 would be federal aid.

Kansas has had plans approved for 491 miles, to cost $5,007,000, with $2,371,000 the federal share, but work is not under way.

Similarly, plans have been approved for 190 miles in Missouri to cost $9,504,000, with the government to pay $4,110,000.

Rather Peaceful Hallowe'en, Here

Hallowe'en night was comparatively peaceful to some of the nights of mischief-making in years gone by. Following the parade that went down Ohio avenue, the business district was abounding with masked and costumed pranksters.

The Sedalia police department patrolled the city with the aid of forty extra auxiliary policemen of the American Legion Post No. 16 and ten cars.

Monday night was expected to be busy night for the local peace officers but things were kept well in order and only a few minor incidents were reported.

The police department received a call from 317 East Boonville about 8:00 o'clock Monday night to investigate and search for vandals who shoved an out building over. A search of the neighborhood was made by a group of the auxiliary police but the pranksters made good their escape.

Mrs. Celia Chasnoff reported to the police about 11:00 o'clock Monday night that a large white porch glider had been taken from her front porch. She said the glider was very heavy and would have had to been carried off by several large boys or young men.

Plenty of clean cold water, and razor blades and a lot of elbow grease, eradicated the pounds of soap smeared on downtown windows on Hallowe'en Night. As per usual, all downtown store windows were a target for the soap pranksters, but it isn't too bad—all merchants can look forward to clean polished windows once a year, and in addition to that, it doesn't cost anything for the soap to clean them—it's already paid for, or was it swiped from the kitchen?

It was expected that many a mother would bake an apple pie today or tomorrow, for her son or daughter. Yes, that's right, out of the apples the "trick or treaters" threw in their huge sacks that were handed them from a peaceful neighbor, who didn't want to suffer the consequences.

Be Back to Renew Ring Hunt

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 1—(AP)—Vice President Barkley still hasn't found the kind of wedding ring he wants for his bride-to-be.

Barkley and Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley, 38, who announced their marriage date Sunday, shopped for a ring yesterday. But they were unable to find just what they wanted.

The 71 year old vice president planned a flying trip to Washington, Pa., today for a speaking engagement.

After filling the engagement, he will return to St. Louis and continue his search for a ring. The wedding date is Nov. 18. Barkley said he planned to be "floating around this area between now and the wedding."

"I might be in St. Louis over next week-end," he added. "I'll be in Chicago next Monday giving a speech. Also I plan to spend more time in Kentucky."

After the wedding, the "Veep" and his bride will move to Barkley's home near Paducah, Ky. The place is known as "The Angles."

Redistricting Elections Being Held

Plans For Combining Districts Scheduled For 29 Counties

By The Associated Press

Another round of school redistricting elections is being held today in Missouri.

Plans for combining districts into enlarged administrative units are up for decision in 29 counties. And if the outcome follows the trend in previous elections more plans will be rejected than approved.

Elections In 67 Counties
The state board of education has received results of previous elections from 67 counties in which the voters balloted on proposals for consolidation of 4,501 districts into 231 enlarged units.

Of the 251 the voters approved, 101, representing a combination of 1,003 districts.

Six of the counties in today's election are voting on the plans approved by the state board. They are Dent, Iron, Marion, Platte, Reynolds and Washington.

Pettis County Election

The other 23 counties have had plans twice rejected by the state board. So the county boards are submitting them to the voters as required by the Missouri school reorganization law.

These counties are: Andrew, Barton, Benton, Galloway, Carroll, Cass, Clay, Clark, Dade, Franklin, Harrison, Henry, Jasper, Lafayette, Lawrence, McDonald, Madison, Mercer, Pettis, Pike, Randolph, Saline, and Vernon.

Not all the districts in these counties are voting since some of the larger ones will remain intact. In many cases the redistricting proposals cross county lines.

Polls Open to 7 P. M.

Voters of Pettis county went to the polls today in 11 voting precincts to cast their decision on a plan to re-district the schools of the county.

The Pettis county board of education has proposed to combine 79 existing districts in Pettis county together with one district in Cooper and one in Morgan counties, into 10 enlarged districts.

A majority vote in favor of combining the schools in any proposed district will effect an immediate change to a re-organized district in that area. Special elections will be held within 30 days to elect a six-district school board for any district which may vote to re-organize.

The polls opened this morning at 6:00 a. m., and the voting will continue until 7:00 p. m., this evening.

Appeal to Save Gandhi Assassins

NEW DELHI, Nov. 1—(AP)—Nearly 5,000 persons in Bombay province have appealed to India's governor C. Rajagopalachari, to commute the death sentences against N. V. Godse and N. D. Apte, who are scheduled to hang Nov. 15 for the assassination of Mahatma Gandhi.

One group of petitioners contended that Gandhi, as the apostle of non-violence, would not have tolerated the idea of hanging his own assassins.

Little Bolivian Aircraft Hits East. Airliner

Bodies Strewn on Potomac in Crash Near National Airport at Capital

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—(AP)—A little Bolivian fighter plane and a big airliner collided in the air near the Washington Airport today with a probable death toll of 55.

More than two hours after the crash only one person was known to have come through it alive.

Babbles In Spanish

He was an unidentified man who babbled deliciously in Spanish and was believed to be the Bolivian pilot, Eric Rios Bridoux, 28.

There were believed to have been 51 passengers and four crewmen aboard the Eastern Airlines DC-4 which was inbound from Boston and New York.

Among the passengers on the Eastern Airlines DC-4 airliner were Rep. George J. Bates, 58, Massachusetts Republican; Michael J. Kennedy, 52 of New York, former member of Congress and a former Tammany Hall leader and Gardner W. Taylor, 60, president of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of New York.

Also believed among the passengers was Helen Holkinson, the cartoonist who became noted as a portrayal of suburban life.

The airliner crashed at the Potomac river's edge. Bodies of the passengers were flung over an area of 150 yards. Many apparently were lost in the river.

Military authorities and airport police said 23 bodies had been recovered.

The only body definitely identified last night—afternoon was that of Helen Gilbert, stewardess.

The two planes came together about 300 feet in the air. Airport control officials said Rios Bridoux had been instructed by radio to permit the airliner to land first, but that he let down his landing gear and headed in for a landing without acknowledging the instructions.

Considered Good Pilot
Officials of the Civil Aeronautics Administration said Bridoux understood English and was regarded as a good pilot.

His fighter plane was a P-38, recently bought from the United States. Bridoux had been testing the plane before flying it to Bolivia.

The airliner was a four-engine DC-4. It cleared Boston this morning and, after a stop at New York, was coming in for a landing at Washington at the time of the collision.

Government officials said the Bolivian government bought two P-38 planes from the U. S. about three or four weeks ago for the Bolivian air force.

One was sent to Bolivia. The other has been kept here pending routine clearance.

The two planes struck while in the air. Those who saw the collision said there was an explosion on the airliner. They said there was undoubtedly a heavy loss of life.

Eastern Airlines identified the flight as number 537.

It left Boston at 9 a. m. and had stopped at New York.

It cleared LaGuardia airport at about 10:30 and was due to land at Washington at 11:46.

The collision occurred about a half mile south of the airport over Mount Vernon boulevard which runs from the nation's capitol through Alexandria, Va., to Mt. Vernon, the home of George Washington.

Skies were overcast but visibility was unlimited and the ceiling was several thousand feet.

The military airports are located (Please turn to Page 4, Column 3)

Just a Wee Nip Before Dinner

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 1—(AP)—A Hallowe'en moon shone last night on corn shocks and corn (liquid).

State senators were dinner guests at one of Missouri's prison farms near here, but drinking is not allowed there.

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round
Navy's Watchdog Unit Saves Taxpayers Thousands of Dollars

by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 — While certain admirals were attracting the national spotlight with broadsides of criticism on Capitol Hill, another navy unit was patriotically retrieving thousands of dollars for the taxpayers without attracting any attention at all.

This unspectacular nose-to-the-grindstone outfit was the Pittsburgh office of the supervising inspector of naval material. With head-aches instead of headlines for a reward, this watchdog unit went through navy contracts looking for bugs. As a result, enough bugs were combed out of the navy's contract with the Canonsburg Steel and Iron company to reverse the company's claim for $1,346,306. Instead of paying Canonsburg, the navy collected $574,157.

In another case, the admirals had gloated over purchasing $1,131,188 worth of material from the Cooper-Bessemer corporation at the bargain price of $63,251. The watchdog unit discovered, however, that this wasn't such a bargain after all. For, believe it or not, the navy had bought its own material, already paid for by the navy.

But, thanks again to the watchdog unit, Westinghouse Electric corporation was ordered to shell out an additional $18,724 for equipment that it had brought from the navy for 2 per cent of the original cost. The navy unit also cracked down on the company owned by Perle Mesta, U. S. minister to Luxembourg and famed dinner hostess to President Truman. The Mesta Machine company had tried to charge the navy $36,000 for maintaining a navy plant, but the watchdog unit took exception to a few items, including 100 per cent for overhead, and cut the bill down to $22,400.

When the bureau of yards and docks tried to give away a navy building erected on the property of the National Tube company, the watchdog unit stepped in and finally sold the building for $24,800.

In another instance, navy-owned electric furnaces and industrial equipment were lying idle. So the watchdog unit got busy and leased this equipment to the Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corporation for $709,000.

Another company, the Elliott company, tried to buy a navy office building for $38,100. Just as the contract was about to be signed, the watchdog unit moved in with its inspectors and adding machines. As a result of a more careful appraisal, Elliott company had to pay $60,725.

Note.—The man in charge of the navy unit which is doing such a good job of saving the taxpayers' money is Capt. M. C. Barrett. His chief assistants are Comdrs. P. Page and J. K. Kennedy.

Truman's Waistline

Though the President jokes about his expanding waistline, actually he watches his diet carefully. The other day at lunch, Truman ate two pieces of home-cured country Missouri ham — an unusually large portion of meat for him. The dessert was ice cream and chocolate cake. Looking at the cake wistfully, Truman turned timidly to Brig. Gen. Wallace Graham, White House physician and asked:

"Doc, can I have a piece of that good chocolate cake?"

"No, sir," replied Dr. Graham sternly, "you can't, Mr. President."

"That's all I wanted to hear," retorted the President as he boldly reached for a big piece of cake.

"I'll see you at 5 o'clock," warned the White House physician, referring to the President's exercise period.

Truman started talking to his guest, Senator McFarland, ate a few crumbs of the delicious cake. Despite his braggadocio, he took Graham's warning seriously.

Big Tax Loophole

Congressman Walter Lynch of New York bluntly informed the big life insurance companies at a closed-door session of a ways and means sub-committee last week that the gravy train they have been riding for the last three years had reached the end of the line. A loophole in the tax laws, enabling the companies to escape billions of dollars of income taxes, is going to be closed.

Furthermore, Lynch warned the insurance executives that they might as well quit protesting about paying up retroactive taxes.

"These obligations due the government are going to be collected one way or another—and I mean retroactively," Lynch served notice at a closed-door meeting. "The honeymoon is over."

He offered the insurance tycoons either of two alternatives:

1. A "stopgap" bill, pending revision of the tax laws, requiring the companies to pay taxes on all above 92 per cent of their income from investments for the years 1948 and 1949. (Under a tax law formula written in 1942, tax exemptions on investment incomes have amounted to 100 per cent in the last three years.)

2. If the companies don't want to make retroactive payments for two years under this bill—already introduced by Ways and Means chairman Bob Doughton of North Carolina—Lynch proposed that they pay up for all three years (1947, 1948 and 1949) under a so-called "average valuation" formula.

This would amount to an across-the-board lowering of tax deductions for all insurance firms, without regard to surpluses in reserve funds.

However, the insurance execs., led by A. J. McCandless of Lincoln National, Fort Wayne, Ind., vigorously objected to both proposals. They were in no position to make retroactive payments of any kind, they insisted, since the money that normally would go toward the tax payoff already had been distributed as dividends.

"Well, make up your minds," replied Lynch. "You may as well realize that you can't ride free any longer."

When McCandless protested that the life insurance firms were not prepared for such a sudden blow at their reserve funds, and that retroactive payments would endanger the stability of a number of companies, Lynch shot back:

"Why, you've been put on notice as long as two years ago, when you first discussed your exemptions with the Treasury Department. You've known all along that you would have to make good on these unpaid taxes some day. So you can't accuse the Congress of dealing with you arbitrarily."

McCandless and colleagues finally suggested that 1947 and 1948 taxes be written off with the 1949 and 1950 taxes paid—if the taxable floor in the Doughton bill was raised from 92 to 95 per cent of investment income. Lynch flatly rejected this, however, and gave the insurance executives until today (Nov. 1) to make up their minds on his two-way proposal.

Eisenhower Keeps His Head in Knotty Unification Squabble

By Bruce Biossatt

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was at his most statesmanlike best the other day in testifying to Congress on the bitter inter-service squabble.

He declined to get into the melee. Instead in a calm, precise way he devoted himself to clearing the air so everybody could understand the dispute more easily. He sought to lift both congressional and Pentagon thinking above the level of present animosities and to get things into balance.

Partisans of either the Navy or Air Force may have been disappointed that the general did not take their side. But they should really be grateful that he did not. For in the end this controversy must be settled through reconciling opposing views—not through crushing victory for one or the other.

Eisenhower told the House armed services committee the root of the trouble is the division of the service dollar. As he put it graphically: "Each service wants into that pile with its shovel."

Stripped of its emotional fervor, the Navy's case is disclosed as largely a fear that it will be whittled down not through overt legal acts but through a choking off of funds it believes vital to most effective operations.

On the other hand, to the Air Force it is basically a question of putting the most chips on those defense task that the Joint Chiefs of Staff have given highest priority, such as strategic bombing.

Eisenhower helped the cause of unity on this money issue by reminding both the generals and the admiral that they had worked well together during the war. He advised them "not to be too ready to call names or impugn motives" in this dispute, but rather to search for the same sort of cooperation they found in battle.

To Eisenhower much of the current difficulty is an inescapable part of the struggle for a permanently unified command. "Stumbling and fumbling" is perfectly natural at this stage, he said. But the effort to unify must go on; it must not give way to discouragement because the obstacles seem great.

The inquiry into the armed services rift is now put off until January. In the intervening two months the nation will gain some idea whether unification has been advanced or retarded by this painful public airing of differences.

If military and naval officials accept Eisenhower's advice, they may now begin to move closer to real service unity on a sounder footing than heretofore. Doubts and fears are out in the open, motives are known, and actions by each branch can be better understood.

But if the top brass of Navy and Air Force proceed instead to entrench themselves in their widely separated present positions, January will find Congress with a knottier problem than it had when the hearing closed.

Eisenhower spoke with the good of the country in mind. It would be unfortunate for the nation were the generals and admirals not to heed his words and begin to patch up their differences in a new spirit of cooperation.

Sad Experience Should Prove Some Things Just Don't Pay

To take another woman down a notch or two.

To try to turn herself into a carbon copy of another woman.

To say anything she has to preface with: "I shouldn't repeat this but . . ."

To be on the dot when she is meeting another woman.

More "Don'ts" To Remember

To discuss her own shortcomings with a man.

To point out how "simply awful" she looks.

To get a reputation for being "a worker."

To get a laugh at someone else's expense.

To start her sentence with "If I were you. . ."

To get a facial. (If she needs a facial—she's beyond its help.)

To refuse to give another woman a prized recipe.

To ask another woman what she is going to wear to a party. (The other woman always changes her mind at the last minute.)

To tell a man he doesn't love her any more.

To make a threat she isn't ready to carry out.

To worry over a man.

Infectious Hepatitis Probably Caused by a Virus Infection

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Infectious hepatitis, or epidemic jaundice as it is sometimes called, is probably an old disease, but it has certainly received a great deal more attention in recent years.

A serious problem with infectious hepatitis came during World War II. The disease seemed to spring up (principally among military men) in many parts of the world. In some places it almost reached epidemic proportions.

The disease is almost certainly caused by an infection, most probably a virus. Presumably this accounted for the fact that its true nature remained so long unrecognized. It seems to involve the liver, principally, and the symptoms can be traced chiefly to that organ.

Fever Common

About half the patients stricken with the epidemic form of the disease develop fever which generally reaches about 103 degrees. The typical yellow color of the skin and eyeballs of jaundice is frequently not noticed until after the patient has been sick for several days. Actually the yellow color or jaundice varies a good deal from person to person.

Convalescence from a typical case of the disease often takes a long time. It is generally considered to run for about two months but may be much longer. In some the acute form seems to be followed by a chronic variety from which recovery is quite slow.

The treatment for the epidemic variety which seemed to work best during the war included strict bed rest early in the course of the disease. This bed rest was continued for a long time during convalescence because getting up too early often seemed to bring back some of the symptoms. Another method of treatment which seemed to be helpful was the use of a diet containing a high proportion of protein foods, such as milk, fish, eggs and cheese.

Much further research work is needed before all of the necessary facts which will lead to its prevention and better treatment can be accumulated.

The CAMEO
By Virginia Teale Copyright, 1949, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Martin Falter, one of the residents of the Dolorosa, Calif., art colony, appears at the Three Wishes Gift Shop, operated by Hagar Blair, with a carnelian cameo. Hagar, a collector of cameos, knows it is rare and valuable. As she examines it, her youthful assistant, Stephanie Smith, appears. At the sight of the cameo, she drops a vase. Hagar continues her examination of the cameo. . .

tell you that any collector worth his salt would recognize a piece like this one. The only thing I don't know about it is how you happen to have it."

"Suspicion is unbecoming even to attractive women, my dear Hagar!" He bowed as she jerked indignantly. "I'll say once again that I came by it honestly. And now, the main point: I have it and you want it. I happen to know that you have sufficient means to meet my price, provided your well-known — ah — prudence in money matters doesn't overcome your collector's mania."

Hagar stood tense, her eyes yearning. One fist was pressed tightly up under her nose, the pressure warping her angular face into gargoyle outlines.

Falter ceremoniously returned the cameo to its box and offered it to Hagar. She shook her head:

"Hah. The old brush salesman trick. Tell me first how much?"

"I suppose I should ask $15,000. But, to you only, I'll say $12,000."

She stamped her feet. "You know damned well I can't afford any such price!"

He raised his eyebrows: "For what is probably the rarest cameo on the market? For the piece that would make your collection almost priceless? For the finest carnelian carving ever to come out of Italy?"

"Since when did you become an authority on cameos?"

Falter blew a plume of smoke toward the ceiling: "One learns what one may find profitable. I could tell you even more about this pin. About how it figured in Napoleon's war with Russia, how it was used as a pawn for freedom by a Russian archduke. And about how, finally, it got back into the Russian crown jewels and was eventually brought to this country and sold to provide bread for an exiled duchess."

"You've boned up well, Falter. But, since I'm positive you didn't give the bread to the duchess, I still question where you got hold of the pin. I haven't got $12,000, or even $10,000 to buy it." She brushed her palms together with brisk finality. "You can take the pin and—go up the street and sell it for $12,000! I've got an inventory to finish."

Falter shrugged, looked at the silver box regretfully and slipped it into his pocket:

"It seems I overestimated your good taste, Hagar, and underestimated your parsimony. Well, perhaps someday you may be able to feast your eyes on this cameo again—through the glass of some other collector's case."

As he sauntered toward the door, Stephanie dashed forward and pulled at his sleeve:

"No! Wait!"

Stephanie's face was turned up to his pleadingly. Her right hand tugged imploringly at his left elbow as she spoke:

"Come back tomorrow, Mr. Falter, will you? Come back tomorrow and bring the pin. Will you, please?"

He patted her shoulder. "I may stop in again—if I'm in the neighborhood."

He went out, closed the door quietly and walked away from the shop without a backward glance at the two staring women.

Hagar confronted Stephanie:

"And what, may I ask, was the meaning of all that?"

The girl gave her a long, unwavering look, and Hagar drew

back, startled, at the surface fire in the blue eyes.

"Hagar. Hagar, you must buy the cameo lockert. You must!"

Hagar laughed nervously. "At that price? What's come over you, girl? I can't afford the thing, and that's final."

Halfway to the back room, she stopped and pivoted slowly to face Stephanie:

"Why did you call it a lockert? It's a pin. A brooch."

Stephanie was staring into space, she shook her head:

"No. It's a lockert. And you must buy it, Hagar. No matter what it costs, we must get it away from Martin Falter."

MARTIN FALTER made his way down the town's main thoroughfare. He passed a small building whose facade consisted of a blue door and a wide window in which a ceramic urn was displayed on a drape of tapestry—this was the studio of Nell and Tom O'Neill, art potters and people-about-town.

Somewhere behind it, probably, were the buxom and impulsive Nell, and her husband, Tom, whose alternate preoccupation with his clay and his bottle left Nell feeling neglected and receptive to sympathy and attention from a discreet and personable friend.

A sign farther up the street was Martin's goal today and he hurried toward it. He glanced up at the narrow platform jutting out over the top of the doorway—on the platform rested a weathered spinning wheel. He rattled the knocker impatiently.

Quick footsteps sounded on the bare floor inside. A small Judas window in the top section of the door was opened cautiously. A key turned in the lock and the door swung wide.

"Martin! I was afraid it was some more of those sightseers the art gallery sends down. I had four here yesterday. The next time here you're going to pretend I'm a Japanese houseboy and nobody else is at home. Come in, won't you?"

Arnold Pieffer smiled and ad-

justed his blue linen smock. "Busy as a bee. Three more orders came in today and no price limit on any of them. Tapestry weaving, as an art, is really coming into its own again, you know."

He led the way through the empty hall. The corners of Martin's lips turned up mockingly as he followed the slender, swaying figure.

THEY entered a spacious, brightly lighted room. There were shelves from floor to ceiling honey-combed with cubicles containing yarns and threads of every available color and texture.

Arnold seated himself and fitted a cigaret into his meerschaum and amber holder; he lighted the cigaret and leaned back, his eyes expectantly on Martin's face.

"Well, Arnold," Martin began, "my expenses have been heavy lately, and I find I could use a little extra cash." He watched Arnold's expression change, and chuckled. "Oh, don't look so trapped, dear boy. I'm not going to ask for a loan."

Arnold laughed depreciatingly and flourished his cigaret holder: "Why, I wasn't worried about that, Marty. You know I'd be only too glad—that is, I was just sorry to hear that things aren't prosperous for you."

"Nice of you. Anyhow, I was wondering if you'd do a little errand for me in San Francisco when you go up tomorrow. Tomorrow is the day, isn't it?"

"Yes. I have a tapestry to deliver."

"Mind you, Arnold, this is confidential."

Arnold nodded gravely.

Martin drew out the silver box from his pocket, opened it and pushed it across the table.

Arnold reached for it, giving a gasp of surprise and pleasure: "Good heavens! What a perfectly gorgeous thing! I've never seen anything like this—it's exquisite!"

"It's worth an exquisite sum, too," Martin said flatly.

"Oh, I can see it's a very rare old piece. What's it worth?"

"I'm asking $10,000."

Miss Jean Batchelder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira L. Batchelder, of Kansas City and Mr. Richard L. Bullard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bullard of Albuquerque, N. M., were married in a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Charles Andrus at 3 o'clock Saturday night, October 15, at the Van Brunt Presbyterian church, in Kansas City. The vows were exchanged before a background of yellow chrysanthemums, pompons and tall candelabra holding yellow cathedral tapers. Mrs. Walter Butler, organist, played the wedding music and accompanied Mr. Harold H. Reynolds, who sang, "Through the Years," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Mr. Batchelder gave his daughter in marriage. Candlelight satin was chosen by the bride for her gown. The basque bodice was heavily beaded with seed pearls with shower design over the left shoulder, and the long sleeves tapered to points over the hands. The voluminous hoop style skirt lengthened into a long, cathedral train. Her fingertip length veil of French illusion fell from a French bonnet of matching satin outlined with flowers of seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with white orchids and with shower of Stephanotis.

Mrs. Harry T. Snow, Jr., sister or the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a gown of ice blue satin and lace styled with a fitted bodice and a full circular skirt. The bridesmaids, Miss Danna Kasper, Miss Mary Ellen Williams and Miss Mary Lou Cox, wore gowns of gold champagne satin identical in style as the one worn by the matron of honor. The attendants all carried colonial bouquets of rust chrysanthemums and pompons.

The tapers were lighted by Miss Frankie Burgard and Miss Barbara Logan. Linda Jean Snow was the flower girl, and Tommy Butler the ring bearer. Mr. Harold Bullard acted as best man for his brother. The groomsmen were Mr. Charles Moore, Mr. Norman Smith and Mr. Harry Snow, Jr. Mr. Bob Dolson, Jr., Mr. Walter Butler and Mr. Jim Gray ushered.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's mother wore a gown of deep rust crepe trimmed with nailheads. Her corsage was of rust pompons. The bridegroom's mother wore a mist blue satin dress with black accessories and corsage of yellow pompons. The bride traveled in a navy blue and white suit with navy blue velvet accessories and a corsage of white orchids. The couple will be at home at 5400 East Sixteenth street terrace.

The bridegroom is a nephew of Mrs. H. H. Ritchey, 129 East Walnut street, and his mother is, at the present time, visiting at the Ritchey home here.

A party honoring the birthday anniversaries of Miss Alma Wise and Mrs. Carl Frank was given Thursday evening by Miss Marian Norton, at her home, 300 South Grand avenue.

The home was decorated in the Halloween motif with black cats, pumpkins and witches used throughout the home. The dining table was centered with an arrangement of asters, on either side of which were pumpkins and candles with sprigs of bitter-sweet.

The evening was spent in playing canasta with awards going to Mrs. Calvin Renau and Mrs. David Mahken.

The guests of honor were given a handkerchief shower and found the handkerchiefs at their places when the desert course of pumpkin pie and coffee were served. Black witches were favors.

Guests were: Miss Alma Wise, Miss Mildred Brackman, Mrs. Carl Frank, Mrs. Charles Peiron, Mrs. William Solon, Mrs. Paul Burke, Mrs. Calvin Renau, Mrs. David Mahken and Mrs. Frank Rouchka.

Mrs. Solon and Mrs. Rouchka assisted Miss Norton in entertaining.

Mrs. Emil Mosier, Sedalia, was the guest of honor Sunday, October 30 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ralph Lindhardt, 659 East Sixteenth street, the occasion being her 60th birthday anniversary.

The dining room was centered with a huge cake using the amount of candles and a color scheme of pink. Cut flower bouquets were used throughout the home.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Emil Mosier and sons, R. V. Wilbur, Francis and Norman; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mosier, Delphia Self and daughter, Nancy, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Mosier, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lindhardt and son Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Mosier and children, Wanda Lee and Richard Wayne of Smithton; Mr. and Mrs. George Glass and children, Donald Dean,

Martha Marie and La Nell, Mrs. Mary Glass of Tipton.

The afternoon was spent in taking pictures of the family, also the unwrapping of gifts received by the honoree.

"The History of Old and Unusual Jewelry" was the subject of a paper read Monday afternoon at Sorosis by Mrs. W. F. Woodruff, of Warrensburg, which had been written by Mrs. E. F. Heart, of that city. Mrs. B. A. Richards, who was to have read the paper was ill and unable to come to Sedalia. The program was originally given at the A. B. C. club for the Homemaking department and was an exchange program with Sorosis.

The source of most of the material came from the book, "Antique Jewelry" by Burgess.

Modern jewelry closely ties in with the old fashioned jewelry, the speaker said, with gold and precious stones the most tangible form of wealth. The earliest workers she said, worked first in gold and silver without stones and then later the stones were added. She pointed out that a goldsmith is one who works in gold, a silversmith works in silver and a jeweler works in stones.

Gold, Mrs. Woodruff said, is still the chief metal for jewelry, and each gold mine has an interesting history.

Along the seashores in primitive times the most common jewelry was made of shells and this is still true in the South Sea Islands and many places where shells are found along the shores, the speaker said.

Found in the modern jewelry are replicas or variations of the older forms, the speaker said. The first work on metal was done by hand, she said, then they cast it and engraved it by hand, but the early jewelry was made entirely by hand and the pieces are very fragile because most of them are pure gold. The present source of gold comes mostly from Australia, the Klondike and South Africa, with most of the silver coming from Australia and South America.

The cross, the speaker stated, is still the most popular emblem used in jewelry as it was in olden times.

Some of the precious stones, such as rubies and garnets, are pretty enough in their natural form that they may be used, Mrs. Woodruff said.

The first jewelry, the speaker said, was not worn as ornaments but to ward off evil spirits. Mrs. Woodruff told about the jewelry in museums some very famous in traditions. She also told of watches some of which are still running that were made in the 17th century. Ivory she said, is fine for carving but is very scarce and nothing that is a good substitute has been found.

The Pinchbeck jewelry, which was a gold plated jewelry of the 18th century is no longer made.

Mrs. Woodruff was introduced by Mrs. T. W. Croxton, of the Art and Drama department, who then asked several of the women who had brought old or unusual jewelry with them to tell about their particular jewelry. Perhaps the most interesting story was given by Mrs. George Holbrook, who told of a man who had gone to Cripple Creek, Colo., to mine gold. He worked for several years and never seemed to be able to find it. Then he decided at the end of that day he would quit. That day a Frenchman came by and asked how he was getting along and the man told him he was discouraged and was going to quit. The Frenchman asked if he might have the claim and continue where the man had left off. When he was told that he could the Frenchman gave him a little diamond cross for the stake. The man returned home and gave the little cross to his four year old niece and within two years the Frenchman struck gold which made him a millionaire. The piece of jewelry Mrs. Holbrook displayed was the little diamond cross. Mrs. Holbrook was the niece.

Mrs. H. E. Dindstrom, president, presided over the meeting.

A luncheon in honor of Mrs. Woodruff preceded the meeting.

In the absence of Mrs. Philip McLaughlin, Mrs. T. H. Yount announced the program for next week, which will be "Philosophy of the Hats" given by Mrs. Lloyd White, of Kansas City.

A luncheon will be served at 12:30 o'clock in honor of Mrs. White with reservations to be in by Friday noon.

Mrs. Woodruff was accompanied to Sedalia by Mrs. L. J. Drummond.

Miss Janice Potter entertained several friends with a Halloween party at her home 200 East Tower street, Friday afternoon from 7:00 to 9:00 o'clock.

The home was attractively decorated in the Halloween colors and colored balloons of Japanese lanterns.

Awards were given the following: for the funniest costume, Miss Norma Kelley; the prettiest costume, Miss Sue Jean Hall; the spookiest costume, Michel Stuckel and the smallest one in costume, Tommy Robb. The contest award went to Miss Dese Belsha.

Janice was assisted in serving refreshments of hot dogs and marshmallows to the following guests: Andrew Sherman, Ida Lou Fiene, Mary Rasa, Norma Jean Kelley, Jessie Pulley, Dese Belsha, Ardis Fay Walter, Peggy Joe Robb, Myrtle Brown, Theda Balch, Virginia Miller, Judy Robb, Mick Stuckel, Wanda Gehlken, May Lou Hopper, Tommy Robb, Janet Wolf, Terry Kelley, Sue Jean Hall, Robert Wagner, Mary pointer, Melvin Wade, Carolyn Napier, Charles Robb, Mildred Robb, Junior Rass, Mary Louise Ellison, Allen Ray Boggs, Clara James, Mrs. John McDaniels, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Christie and Jerry Ray and Janice.

Friends and relatives gathered at the home of Henry Meyer of 1905 East Broadway with well filled baskets Sunday and celebrated his 84th birthday anniversary which was October 17.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Meyer, Sedalia; Mr. and Mrs. George Meyer and daughter, Karon of Holden; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Meyer and children, Jannet and Donna of Huminsville; John Meyer and sons, Virgil, Chris, J. B. and daughter Zetta of Otterville; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Meyer and son Charles of Sedalia; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Meyer of Sedalia; Mrs. J. H. Meyer of Sedalia; Miss Martha Meyer of Smithton; Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Gaffen, daughter Dorothy of Kansas City; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gaffen of Kansas City; Mr. and Mrs. George Meyer of Smithton; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Semke of Smithton; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Eichholz of Port Worth, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Eichholz of Smithton; Mr. and Mrs. Kalo Eichholz, son Gerra and daughter Joyce Kay of Smithton; and Mr. and Mrs. Joe L. Bundy of Corcus Christy, Texas.

The afternoon was spent in taking pictures and conversation.

On October 22, neighbors and relatives surprised Mrs. N. E. Whittington with a house warming party, as she recently moved into her newly decorated and remodeled home, 1200 East Broadway. She received many nice and useful gifts for the home.

Those who attended were the honoree, Mrs. N. E. Whittington, Mrs. S. W. Welch, Mrs. Pete Whittington, Mrs. Frank Laplant, Mrs. Edgar Lobnes and children, Mrs. Marshall Bryant, Mrs. Bill Bennett, Mrs. Norman Prime, Mrs. George Chamberlin, Miss Jesse Smith, Miss Ona Ream, Mrs. Melvin Burnett, Mrs. Harry Shephens, Mrs. Harold Welch and sons, Mrs. J. F. Pressley, Jr.

Those who sent gifts but were unable to attend were Mrs. Charles Hall of Warsaw; Mrs. E. J. Mosely, Jr., Vero Beach, Fla.; Mrs. Freda Byrnes and Mrs. Bobby Neese.

Refreshments of chicken sandwiches, coffee and cookies were served.

'Making Use of Our Patterns' Theme Of Several Talks

The Sedalia District of Parent Teacher Associations comprised of Saline, Cooper, Morgan, Montauk, Benton and Pettis counties met at the Epworth Methodist church, October 27, at 9:45 o'clock. There were 156 registered delegates.

Mrs. Verney Engstrom of Sedalia, president of the district, opened the session. Rev. Ralph E. Hurd gave the invocation. Greetings were extended by Heber U. Hunt, superintendent of Sedalia schools, C. F. Scotten, superintendent of Pettis County schools; Mrs. Kurman Riley, president of the Pettis County Council; and Mrs. John League, president of the Sedalia Council, extended greetings to the delegates.

Unit reports were given from the various towns and county council followed by group singing led by Mrs. Lloyd Kirkpatrick.

Mrs. Charles L. Lechler, St. Joseph, second vice president of the Missouri Congress of Parents and Teachers chose as her subject, "Making Use of Our Patterns." Mrs. Lechler stated patterns for living must fit the child as well as adults, not only in the home, but the school and the community. Some of Mrs. Lechler's remarks were based on the recent convention in Joplin. In thinking of a child's development, we must think of it in four places, the home, the school, church and the community. We can not send a child to school and keep part of him at home, so the pattern of living must be tucked to fit all four places. Various agencies must be combined to help the child develop.

Mrs. Lechler suggested various churches and Parent Teacher Association groups work more closely together as they are working for the same goal. In closing, Mrs. Lechler said our aim was to turn out a beautifully fitted pattern in our children, regardless of size.

Tells of Redistricting
C. F. Scotten spoke of "An Ideal Pattern." He spoke of the redistricting of schools and used a printed form listing various reasons for this plan.

Ed Martin, principal of the Jefferson school spoke of "Evolving patterns in Education." He stressed the fact that the only constant thing in this life of ours is change. Patterns of like change just as patterns in education. Teachers can set a pattern said Mr. Martin, but they must be completed in the home. In closing, Mr. Martin stated patterns for education have shifted, will shift more.

Miss Wilford Dee, state publicity chairman, spoke on "Patterns in publicity." She stated that patterns in Parent Teacher Units for publicity, like all other, must be cut to fit community and the unit it must be flexible. Publicity to the public and members may be given through the papers, posters, telephone calls, bulletins, personal contact and school papers. In reporting to the papers remember accuracy and that names are news. Give who, what, where, why and when and give events in their importance. In following the procedure out lined, it will be easier for the editors to write up the events.

Mrs. Paul Berthouex presented several organ numbers during the afternoon and Mrs. Vernon Frieze of Warsaw, by request, presented three piano selections, followed by the community singing led by Mrs. Lloyd Kirkpatrick.

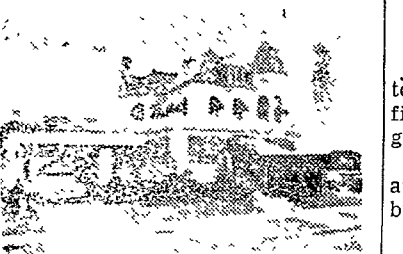

Mrs. M. E. Green of Sedalia presided at the question and answer forum at which time announcements were made.

At the close of the business session, Mrs. Verney Engstrom was presented a lamp by the various councils present.

Ladies of the church served the noon day luncheon in the basement of the church.

The meeting adjourned at 3:00 o'clock.

Funeral of Mrs. Sanders
Funeral services for Mrs. Bessie R. Sanders of Smithton, who died at 11:00 o'clock Monday morning at the Bothwell hospital, will be held at the Neumeier funeral home in Smithton at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning conducted by the Rev. E. F. Dillon, pastor of the Smithton Methodist church.

Music will be furnished by the Smithton Methodist church choir. Immediately after the services in Smithton, the body will be taken by auto to Carrollton where graveside services will be held in the afternoon.

Interment will be made in a cemetery there. Mrs. Sanders is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Orville Taylor of Peit, Okla., and Mrs. J. D. Neuman of Carrollton; one son, Elmer Rhoades of Chicago, Ill. The following step-children also survive: Mrs. A. F. Smith of Syracuse, Mo.; Mrs. J. R. Dinwiddie of Raymore, Mo.; Arthur Sanders of Ottumwa and Walker Sanders of Florence.

Tractor-Trailer Hits a Culvert

A large trailer truck owned by the Hall feed company at Clinton, Ark., and driven by Andrew Kirkendall hit a culvert on highway fifty, thirteen miles west of here about 11:00 o'clock Monday night. The tractor's front axle was shoved back under the cab and the tractor and the trailer topped in to a ditch on its side.

According to the Sedalia police department, Kirkendall was picked up by a passing car and brought to the police station where he made contact with state trooper Wayne Allman who accompanied him back to the scene of the mishap.

Kirkendall escaped with only minor scratches and cuts. He told local police that the trailer was loaded with feed.

ed across the Potomac river immediately adjacent to National airport.

The military plane may have been operating from one of these, but there was no definite word immediately on that.

First reports said the smaller plane disintegrated immediately after the collision.

Rescue Crews to Scene
All available ambulances and doctors were called immediately to the scene.

P. M. Clifford of Washington, who witnessed the collision, said the smaller plane plunged into the Potomac and disappeared.

"I was driving south when I suddenly looked up," Clifford said. "I saw a ball of fire and a trail of smoke about 300 feet above the ground and one plane falling."

"I parked my car and ran to the river bank. I saw them bring a woman out of the wreckage and several men. They were terribly battered. I could not stand to look any more."

Account of Crash
The CAA gave this account of the actual crash:

As Bridoux came back toward the National airport field he asked for landing instructions and was advised by the tower that he was second to come down, behind the EAL flight.

The tower ordered Bridoux to circle the field so as to come in behind the commercial ship.

He did not acknowledge the call, which the control tower repeated several times.

Tower observers saw him coming straight in and called to him to pull up. There was no indication that he heard or understood the order.

Bolivian embassy officials said he was their country's best pilot who had been trained in various U. S. schools and at Randolph Field, Texas.

Massive chunks of the passenger plane were strewn along the shore of the Potomac within 30 feet of the highway. Most of the passenger compartments collapsed and sank beneath the water.

Bodies were hurled more than 150 feet to the shore. Personal effects, clothing, and other items were picked from trees and bushes where the impact had thrown them.

However, she pleaded for "Just one more chance" and it was given her. She also reportedly didn't show up for a studio rehearsal last Saturday.

Last spring, her role in "Annie Get Your Gun" was given to Betty Hutton when MGM said Judy failed to report on a set after lunch. She was suspended for several months then and was reinstated after some time at a Boston clinic.

Italy Faces a Political Crisis

The Italian government is facing a political crisis today following the walkout of three anti-Communist Socialist cabinet ministers.

Those resigning were vice Premier Giuseppe Saragat, leader of the Italian Socialist Labor party (PSLI) and two other party members.

Premier De Gasperi said he would attempt to persuade the three to return to his government. He seemed certain to continue as leader of any reshuffled cabinet since his Christian Democrat party won a heavy majority in the 1948 elections.

At Lake Success, a special United Nations group began finalizing its recommendations on the future of Italy's prewar African colonies.

The committee has agreed on independence for Libya by 1952, and for Italian Somaliland by 1950. It recommended that a five-nation committee of inquiry go to Eritrea to report on the situation there.

Faithful Old Pigeon is Dead

FORT MONMOUTH, N.J., Nov. 1.—(P)—One of Uncle Sam's most faithful soldiers died last night. He was Kaiser, the army's 32-year-old carrier pigeon, who had outlived a dozen wives and served his adopted country through two World Wars.

Back in World War I, American doughboys found Kaiser in a German front line trench during the Meuse-Argonne offensive. They put the well-trained carrier pigeon to work against the Germans.

During World War II the army used Kaiser to train other pigeons, some of them his own great-great-grandchildren.

The bird's final resting place will be in the Smithsonian institution in Washington, D. C. The long-time signal corps mascot will be mounted and displayed there.

Meeting Held by Milk Producers

A meeting of milk producers of Pettis county was held in the Assembly Room of the court house today, which got underway about 10 a. m.

Wallace Cordes, chairman of the committee in this county, opened the meeting, and introduced County Agent Roy I. Coplen, who announced the program for the day and spoke briefly of artificial breeding to improve dairy industry in the county. It was brought out at the meeting, that 1224 cows have been bred through the artificial program in the Sedalia district between October 1, 1948 to September 30, this year.

Warren Nordyke, manager of M. F. A. breeding association at Springfield, and Leon Palmer, field man, were morning speakers.

The principal speaker this afternoon was Homer Cloninger, dairy extension specialist of University of Missouri. He discussed feeding, testing, culling, pasture management, disease control and answered questions.

The following committeemen were elected this afternoon: Wallace Cordes of Spring Fork; William McCune of Spring Fork; Gene Helman of Sedalia; Leo Hohens of Smithton; Donald Arnett of LaMonte; C. L. Scott of LaMonte; T. W. Peters of Sedalia; Robert Henderson of Ottumwa; Bob Campbell of Spring Ford and William Caton of Smithton.

The morning program dealt with artificial breeding and the afternoon session consisted of dairy management.

Judy Must Reduce Else Lose Role

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 1.—(P)—Judy Garland must shed some pounds or else lose another top role.

MGM bosses huddled yesterday to discuss the possible removal of the singing star from her role in "Summer Stock" and even possible suspension.

A studio spokesman said Judy is some eight pounds overweight and was up for possible suspension because she had ignored another order to reduce.

However, she pleaded for "Just one more chance" and it was given her. She also reportedly didn't show up for a studio rehearsal last Saturday.

Last spring, her role in "Annie Get Your Gun" was given to Betty Hutton when MGM said Judy failed to report on a set after lunch. She was suspended for several months then and was reinstated after some time at a Boston clinic.

ELECTED—Dr. Lowell J. Reed, above, of Baltimore, Md., was elected president of the American Public Health Association at the organization's 77th annual meeting in New York. Dr. Reed is vice president of Johns Hopkins University and Hospital in Baltimore.

Tax Paying Time Arrives

In place of forming a line at the tax windows as they did a year ago, taxpayers straggled to both the county and city collectors' offices to settle up their taxes with the county and city.

Today uncapped the two months' period in which taxes may be paid, before they become delinquent after December 31, 1949. An extra fee will be added to the taxes, which are paid after the deadline.

Miss Hazel Palmer attributed the unhasty business today to the possibility that the taxpayers might be awaiting their tax statements, which are scheduled to be mailed out to approximately 15,000 county taxpayers in the near future.

The city and county collectors have collected some of this year's taxes, before the opening date today.

Electric Workers Withhold Dues

By Harold W. Ward
CLEVELAND, Nov. 1.—(P)—The United Electrical Workers, spearhead of the CIO's rebellious left wing, today announced it was withholding any further dues to the CIO—a certain first step toward its ouster.

In a defiant statement accusing CIO leadership of following a "program of raiding, union-busting and red-baiting hypocrisy," UE President Albert J. Fitzgerald said the next step "is up to the CIO."

U. E. delegates walked off the convention floor shortly afterwards. Fitzgerald said they were going home. U. E. officers have not been attending the convention although delegates were there.

There was little doubt that President Philip Murray of the CIO would accept the challenge quickly. The groundwork for removing the U. E. with approximately 450,000 members, was laid by constitutional changes approved last night for action by the CIO convention today or tomorrow.

Eleven other so called left wing unions also face ouster by CIO but Fitzgerald said it would be up to them whether they followed the U. E. example of withholding the per capita tax to the CIO.

climbing between the seventh and eighth floor when the second explosion occurred and was knocked down a flight of approximately 20 stairs.

Knocked Off Feet
Aaron Trail, a postoffice superintendent, told the following story:

"I was walking down the hall when the first blast occurred. The impact blew me down the corridor about 50 feet. The hall was gutted with smoke and I tried to make my way to a window to get out. As I reached there the second blast occurred and knocked me off my feet. By this time the whole eighth floor was so black with smoke that I couldn't see and couldn't get out. Finally, after approximately 20 minutes, a fireman helped me to a stair well."

Trail's hair was singed and he suffered cuts on the back of his neck.

Among those who left hastily was Postmaster General Donaldson, whose office is on the third floor.

W. F. Airey, an electrician, told reporters he turned in the alarm. He said the saw smoke coming from a room in which electrical equipment is housed, and was on his way to locate the source when—

"I heard an explosion like a cannon shot."

By the time he turned in the alarm and could get to a staircase, Airey said, "the smoke was so thick I got dizzy."

Airey said he thought the explosions were set off by a faulty transformer.

1000 pipes. The console is at the right.

The installing of a pipe organ is quite a feat with so many pipes of all kinds that must be just right. So many connections, so many little things as well as big things that go into building the organ pipes right into the church. And yet the men installing the organ from St. Louis do not play, although one of them has been installing organs for 30 years. But they know the tones, they know where every little piece must go and when it has been installed to their complete satisfaction their job is done. They leave the music that comes from it to the organists.

Old One Used 60 Years
The new organ replaces an old Kluge pipe organ which has been in the church 60 years. The church was built in 1882 and six years later the Kluge was installed in the church at the time the late Rev. J. Ross Stevenson was pastor of the church. Dr. Stevenson later became president of Princeton university and was one of the greatest presidents of any American university.

W. M. Johns, a member of the organ committee for the new organ, also served on the organ committee 60 years ago and the first wedding music played on that organ was for his wedding.

Was First Organist
The first organist was Mrs. Sallie Potter Need. Later Mrs. Jessie Need became organist and for over 40 years served as organist and giving through all those years a high standard and quality of church music.

The new organ will not be quite as complete as the church members want it at the dedication. The walnut grill-work will not be placed until the first of the year, but it will be something of real beauty when finished for it will be the same design of the huge stained glass window of the church.

The public is invited to attend the dedication service Sunday morning and the vesper service in the afternoon.

Ask For More To The Schools

"We have scraped the barrel for funds for our schools." He said he could foresee only an eight-month school term in Kansas City this year unless additional support is forthcoming from the state.

C. G. Sagaser of Atlanta, farmer and newspaper publisher, said he was urging the extra appropriation because he wanted to give his six children adequate education.

He said the best teachers of Macon county have been leaving for better salaries in other states, most of them going to Iowa.

"It is up to the state to provide this extra money for the schools," Sagaser said, "unless you want to take the election of county assessors out of politics."

J. J. Fitzgerald, member of the St. Louis board of education, said the St. Louis schools face a $1,600,000 deficit this year. He said the city's share of the extra appropriation would greatly aid in meeting the deficit.

Engel Does Not Testify In Defense

"Wizard Of Woo" Expressed Desire To Talk A Little

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—(P)—Sig-mund (Sam) Engel, who the state alleges sweet-talked widows out of their wealth, was not allowed to utter a syllable in his defense today to a criminal court jury.

Although the 74-year-old wiz-ard of woo expressed anxiety to get on the stand as soon as the prosecution closed its case against him, his attorneys rested their defense after questioning a few minor witnesses.

Confidence Game Charge
Engel is on trial on a charge of running a confidence game in which a Chicago widow, Mrs. Reseda Corrigan, 39, lost $8,700. She said Engel posed as a movie producer, promised to build a gigantic production around her singing voice and fled with her bankroll.

Other widows and divorcees told similar stories to the jurors. Some married Engel others, like Mrs. Corrigan, took the string of their purses before any nuptial knots were tied.

While the defense offered no explanation for not letting the defendant testify, the lawyers may have been prompted by En-gel's behavior since his arrest in a woman-baited police trap last summer.

In the midst of the trial, while his lawyers were trying to break down the stories of the widows, Engel gave a courtroom spectator his autograph to which he ap-pended "lover of 1001 women."

At one point in his talks with police he denied ever seeing the women marshaled against him. At another point he said all gave him their money freely, that he had not swindled them.

Blames 'Mythical' Twin Brother
Then he blamed his mythical twin brother, Arthur, for causing all his trouble. It was Arthur, he said, who relieved Mrs. Pauline Langton of New York of a rich array of jewels after their mar-riage.

When Mrs. Langton cast her-self in the role of his devoted wife, determined to stand by him for better or for worse, Engel promptly forgot about the mar-riage to Arthur and moved to a Chicago apartment with Mrs. Langton. He has been at liberty under bond during his trial.

Last week Engel promised that Arthur would appear in court today in his defense. Arthur failed to show up and reporters asked Engel where he was.

"No comment," Engel replied. The aging Engel was in a cocky mood again today. After the defense rested he told re-porters:

"I'm going to be acquitted any-way. I don't hope—I know I'll be acquitted. The state has no case against me."

President Signs The Farm Bill

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(P)—President Truman Monday signed long-range farm legislation which permits the government to support prices of most farm products at or near wartime levels.

The measure—passed by the present Democratic Congress—replaces most major provisions of the so-called Aiken law enacted by the Republican 80th Congress. The GOP law permitted some-what lower supports for major crops.

President Favored Parity
The new law gives the secre-tary of agriculture authority to support virtually every farm prod-uct at 90 per cent of parity if he thinks that is advisable. Mr. Truman and Secretary of Agri-culture Brannan have indicated they favor 90 per cent supports, as a general rule, to keep agri-culture prosperous.

Except for the first year—1950—the department also has discre-tionary authority to drop farm price guarantees below 90 per cent of parity, but only within limits fixed by legislation.

The government supports prices by buying in the open market at the support price, or by making loans to the producer with his produce as security.

Parity is a legal price standard designed to give farmers a fair return for their products in re-lation to the things they must buy.

Ask $100,000 For An Architectural Survey

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 1.—(P)—The Senate appropriations committee Monday was asked to provide $100,000 for an architec-tural survey of the state highway department's office building here.

Carl W. Brown, chief high-way engineer, and Lue C. Lozier, general counsel for the depart-ment, appeared in behalf of the appropriation.

Brown said the commission wants to determine whether it is advisable to construct additional stores or new wings for the building.

The building, finished in 1928, is now inadequate to take care of all the department's opera-tion's Brown said. The depart-ment recently has taken on addi-tional duties, including a state-wide traffic survey, safety pro-gram, compensation for its work-ers, while the maintenance pro-gram has expanded widely.

Assistant Attorney General C. B. Burns, Jr., asked the commit-tee to approve a $100,000 item for a revolving fund for court costs in cases handled by the attorney general's office.

State Auditor William H. Holmes requested $50,000 to make a general audit of the state high-way department.

Farmer Loses Arm In A Corn Picker

NEW CASTLE, Ind., Nov. 1.—(P)—A 65-year-old farmer, Char-les Rothrock, amputated his own right hand Monday after it be-came caught in the same corn picker in which his wife lost both of her legs seven years ago.

After cutting off his hand he ran a quarter of a mile to the home of his brother, Eugene, and was driven to Henry county hos-pital. He was reported in fair condition.

Rothrock's wife, Clara, lost one leg above the knee and the other below the knee in the 1942 ac-cident. She walks on artificial legs and helps with farm work. To-night she said:

Handicap Vet Automobile Bill Gets Vetoed

Act Would Result In Wholesale Inequities And Lead To Abuses

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(P)—Pres. Truman Monday vetoed a bill authorizing federal payments up to $1,600 on the cost of auto-mobiles for certain handicapped veterans of World War I and II.

Mr. Truman said the measure would create "wholesale inequi-ties" and "lead to abuses."

Under the present law, the government supplies autos to World War II veterans who lost a leg.

Disapproved By President
The measure disapproved by Mr. Truman would have made government gifts of automobiles to veterans of both the last two wars who lost a hand or leg or were blinded in the service.

Mr. Truman said the vetoed bill would have provided motor-cars to a veteran who has suf-fered the loss of a hand and who may be rated as 60 or 70 per cent disabled "although his mobility may be impaired only slightly, if at all."

"At the same time, a much larger number of veterans rated as high as 100 per cent disabled, but without the specific disabili-ties covered by this proposal, will not receive automobiles," the President said in a statement.

Cars Not A Necessity
"Nor is an automobile neces-sary," Mr. Truman said, "for the

Boys Undo Their Hallowe'en Work

CANTON, Nov. 1.—(P)—After a hard night's work hoisting bug-gies onto store roofs, a fellow needs his sleep.

But six youths were awa-kened shortly after 4 a. m. Monday in the village community northwest of here.

Sheriffs deputies routed the boys from their beds to "finish up their night's work" by returning the buggies to their owners. The sleepy boys couldn't remember which buggy belonged to which farmer. It took almost four hours to get them all back in the proper barns.

Hartville residents are hoping rehabilitation of each and every veteran who has lost one or both hands.

"If we abandon sound princi-ples of rehabilitation, it is not clear how or where we can stop this progressive expansion of the granting of automobiles short of providing one for every disabled veteran."

Minister's Wife Sets A Record

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 1.—(P)—Mrs. E. K. Griffith, at 79, holds some sort of a record as a minis-ter's wife.

She was married to the Rev. Zebbede Thomas 2 months short of 50 years. Two years after his death she married the Rev. E. K. Christie at Sedalia and they moved here. That was 10 years ago.

Mr. Christie, a Baptist minister, is 95 years old. As a child of 5 he was given a personal slave which was owned in his own name until Emancipation Day.

Most Montana Farms Electrified

BOZEMAN, Mont.—(AP)—Nearly two thirds of Montana's farms now receive electricity. Rural Electrification Administration data here show 23,462, or 62.2 per cent, of the state's rural homesteads now are electrified.

This compares with a national average of about 75 per cent while 11 states can boast 95 per cent rural electrification, the REA said.

Two Grapplers Gunning For Title Honors

Will Meet in Local Ring Wednesday Nite In Showdown Match

Wednesday's Wrestling Matches In the Sedalia Armory

Feature Match—Wild Bill Longson, 235, Salt Lake City, vs. Jimmy Coffield, 227, Hamilton, Ontario. Best two out of three falls, or 30-minute time limit.

Semifinal Match—Babe Zaharias, 240, Colorado Springs, Colo., vs. Big Mike Sharp, 285, Hamilton, Ontario. Best two out of three falls, or a 45-minute time limit.

Special Match—Cowboy Roy Graham, 240, Corsicana, Tex., vs. Johnny Swenski, 215, Linn, Mass. One fall, or a 30-minute time limit.

Matchmaker—Pearl Christy.

First match Wednesday starts at 8:30 p. m.

Wild Bill Longson, who drew tremendous crowds in the St. Louis Kiel Auditorium, will make his bid for Central Missouri recognition when he battles Jimmy Coffield in Wednesday night's featured American Legion wrestling match in the Sedalia Armory.

Longson has one of the best records in the heavyweight ranks. He also is a claimant to world title honors, but he is out to firmly establish his claim. Coffield has been trying to gain top contender spot and is anxious to meet the burly Salt Lake City wrestler.

A Confident Coffield

Coffield is confident that if he can outlast Longson from title contention he can demand a showdown match with the recognized titlist, Orville Brown. However, Longson is gunning for the same chance and he will use every trick in the books to eliminate the Coffield threat.

Another top-notch contest is scheduled for the semi-final when Big Mike Sharp of Hamilton, Ontario, makes his first return to the local ring in more than two years. Mike was a big drawing card here before and he hopes to regain the favor of the fans.

Sharp, who stand 6-foot-7, will meet the veteran Babe Zaharias and their match is expected to develop into a rugged battle. Mike is a vastly-improved wrestler, having gain a wealth of experience during his campaign along the eastern seaboard. He now holds an NWA record of twenty victories out of twenty-four matches.

Cowboy Returns To Action

Cowboy Roy Graham is scheduled to return to action in the special event and will square off against the sensational New England heavyweight, Johnny Swenski of Linn, Mass. Swenski is a big name along the east coast and now is making a bid for mid-western recognition.

Swenski was a headliner in this region five years ago and his matches with the late Steve Brody will long be remembered by the fans. Brody was killed in action during World War II.

Attempt to Curb Hunting Accidents

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 1—(Special)—In an attempt to curb the some 2,000 hunting accidents that occur during the fall seasons each year, the New England Outdoor Writers Association conducted a recent exhaustive study of such accidents in the United States and Canada.

The investigation revealed that deer and big game accounted for most of the accidents, followed by rabbits, upland birds and duck hunting in that order. Resident hunters caused 95 per cent of the casualties. The most frequent cause of hunting accidents is "person mistaken for game", number two was "not knowing the gun was loaded" and the third was "carrying a loaded gun in the car." Hunting with the safety off and position of the hunter tied for fourth place. Following along in order was heavy concentration of hunters, faulty or obsolete firearms, mental incompetence, poor visibility, falling with loaded gun, deceptive clothing, faulty eyesight, and last place goes to "under the influence of liquor."

Two Unbeaten Teams To Meet at West Point

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 — (AP) — Fordham will try to 'out-platoon' Army, the most successful platoon specialists in football, when the two unbeaten eastern teams collide Saturday at West Point.

Ed Danowski, who guides the destinies of the Rams, is not satisfied with just separate offensive and defensive units. He has a special kickoff unit, a special one to receive kickoffs and another combination when place kicking. That's five in all.

Orville Brown Injured in Car Accident

Claimant of World's Wrestling Title Has Been in Sedalia Ring

BETHANY, Mo., Nov. 1—(AP)—Orville Brown, 38, of Kansas City, and Robert Bruns, 35, of Hayward, Calif., heavyweight wrestlers, were injured seriously early today in an automobile collision.

Brown's Cadillac automobile was nearly demolished as he ran into a transport truck which had stalled on Highway 69 three miles north of Eagleville, Mo. The wrestlers were returning to Kansas City from a wrestling show at Des Moines last night.

Brown suffered a possible skull fracture, two deep head lacerations, a bad cut on the right forearm and glass cuts in the right eye. He lapsed into unconsciousness at the Bethany hospital, arrangements were made to take him to Kansas City as soon as possible.

Brun suffered a fractured shoulder.

Joe McCarthy Renews Contract

BOSTON, Nov. 1—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox announced today that Joe McCarthy had renewed his contract as manager of the club.

S-C "B" Team Journeys To Windsor Tonight

The Smith-Cotton sophomore and freshman team will clash with the Windsor "A" team tonight at 8 o'clock at Windsor.

The Tiger gridriders overpowered Windsor 10 to 6 two weeks ago at Liberty Park, and the Windsor footballers will be out to even the count.

So far this season, the S-C underclassmen have won two, lost one, and tied one. Tonight's tilt will be next to the final engagement this season.

Bands on Fowl Provide Valuable Information

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 1—(Special)—Hunters are urged to watch for bands on the ducks and geese they kill this fall and to turn the bands in to the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Band numbers consist of two sets of figures, both of which are needed to identify the bird. Cooperators are urged to record the band numbers in the letter as well as flatten out and enclose the band itself, since bands returned in the mail occasionally tear through the envelope and are lost.

Notre Dame Has Best System of All, With Spirits Knocking Down Rivals

By Major Amos B. Hoople
Blocker for Jim Thorpe

Esad, gentle readers! Thus far I haven't delved into the intricate machinery set up by each coach to thwart and outwit adversaries. It's a lot of balderdash, if you ask me—har-rumph!

When I was blocking for Jim Thorpe, I simply took five or six stalwarts out of the famed Irish finders' pathway. I think you will find that the best football system ever devised. Broiled down it simply is this: Knock somebody down.

The great coaches of other years, Stagg, Dobie and Pop Warner, used to ask my advice about some new wrinkle they thought would dazzle the opposition. Invariably I would tell them to stick to the old scheme.

While a great many coaches rush about with diagrams in every pocket, let me point to Notre Dame as a vindication of my theory. Coach Leahy declares Notre Dame excels only in spirit. They just give somebody the ball and a bunch of spirits rush around the field smacking down everybody wearing a strange uniform.

After Notre Dame executes a cutback through tackle, a great many bodies lie strewn about the field, felled by those Notre Dame spirits.

It's the best system of all. Do not leave anybody standing around to tackle your ball carrier.

Now go on to the forecast of games to be played Nov. 5:

Uniform Playoff In Major League Ties

CINCINNATI, Nov. 1—(AP)—Uniform playoffs in ties for major league baseball pennant championships will be considered by the major league council today.

The session will be held at Versailles, Ky., where Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler lives.

Under American league rules, when two teams are tied for the leadership at the end of the season, only one game is played to determine the winner.

National league rules call for a three-game series.

Walter Mulberry, secretary of baseball, said today a proposal to start the major league seasons early enough to complete the schedules before Oct. 1, also will be considered.

Nebraska Can Lose All-Time Leadership

Sooners Have Chance to Deadlock All-Time Standings

By Jerry Sullivan

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 1—(AP)—The Nebraska Cornhuskers, who have already this season surrendered their all-time conference leadership in the percentage column to Oklahoma, face a stretch run to retain first place in the number of games won.

The Sooners, the Big Seven's highest ranking team nationally, can move into a tie Saturday with Nebraska in the games won column.

Oklahoma needs a victory at Manhattan against Kansas State coupled with a Nebraska loss to Kansas at Lawrence to deadlock the all-time figures.

71 Victories

Currently ranked No. 3 nationally and undefeated this year, Oklahoma has chalked up three conference victories. The Sooners' total games won in conference competition since the Big Six, the Big Seven's predecessor, started in 1923 now stands at 71. They have 28 losses and 9 ties.

Nebraska has three conference games remaining, Oklahoma has two left.

Wildcat Homecoming

The game at Manhattan will be a homecoming affair for the battered Kansas State Wildcats, but even that isn't counted on to give them much hope against Oklahoma.

The Sooners were to learn to do wether quarterback Darrell Royal and fullback Ed Lisak will be ready Saturday.

Missouri Halfback Injured

Missouri, getting ready to invade Colorado, didn't work out yesterday. Coach Don Faurot reported Halfback Bob Henley may be out for the season with a foot injury.

Iowa State expects to be near top shape against Drake in a non-conference game Saturday.

Lightweight Crown Will Be on The Line Nov. 28

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1—(AP)—Freddy Dawson of Chicago, who has failed to lick lightweight champion Ike Williams in three non-title efforts, gets another opportunity here Nov. 28 and this time the crowd will be on the line.

Promoter Phil Glassman announced yesterday that Trenton Ike — undisputed boss of the 135 pounders since August 4, 1947 — had signed to defend his title for the fifth time.

Cage Practice Underway at Smith-Cotton

First Basketball Encounter Will be With Tipton Nov. 22

The Smith-Cotton basketball team started regular practice last week, in preparation for the first cage meet, which will be with Tipton there on November 22. The first conference game will be played with Jefferson City here on December 9.

James N. Ball, Smith-Cotton basketball coach, said fifteen players are working out now, and would have to carry on with that number until after football season terminates, around the latter part of November. About six top cage players are with the football team.

Coach Ball announced six let-terms were with the varsity, five of them are seniors. They are Ralph Walker, Bill Holst, Bill Brown, Bill Morgan, junior, Bill Berry and Marvin Lakenau. The coach said four other boys look promising. They are Dean Edwards, senior; Donald Decker, junior; Bill Cooper, a 6 foot three inch sophomore, who played on the B team last year, and Eddie Johnson, a transfer student from Moberly.

Howard Glavin will coach the B basketball team and will assist Ball with the varsity.

Tiger Statistics

In thirteen regular scheduled basketball games, the Tiger basketballers rolled up a total of 704 points over their opponents' 494 points. During the 1948-49 schedule the Tigers lost their first game with Tipton 34-41, and in an overtime lost 46-48 to Jefferson City.

In the next tilt with Jefferson City the local team won 57-56.

Out of 23 games last year, the Tigers won 20, and rolled up high scores, such as 70-28 over Kemper; 55-27 over Columbia; 72-42 over College High, and again tallied trouncing scores over some three teams in return meets.

The Tigers took second place in the conference tourney. Hannibal and Jefferson City seemed to furnish the Tigers with keen rivalry in cage meets.

Cleveland Indians Reduce Farm System

CLEVELAND, Nov. 1—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians today announced elimination of four Class D clubs of their baseball farm system.

They are: Cordelle, Ga.; Stroudsburg, Pa.; Iola, Kansas and Union City, Tenn.

The cuts reduced the baseball club's minor league holdings to a total of 13 teams.

General Manager Rudie Schaffer indicated that one more club might also be eliminated, probably in Class C.

Tribe officials said they expected to make up for the cut in player personnel by an intensive farm club spring training camp. They explained the camp would permit looking over some 400 baseball hopefuls without having to keep them on the roster an entire season.

Tommy Wright Topped List of Golf Qualifiers

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 1—(AP)—The 47th north and south open golf tournament got under way today.

Tommy Wright, a lanky veteran pro from Kingsport, Tenn., led the list of 118 qualifiers yesterday with a snappy 87, five under par for the No. 2 championship country club course, a 6,952-yard strip.

Southwest Is a Stout Grid Leader

Major Conference Check Picks South Weakest in Land

By Will Grimsley

NEW YORK, Nov. 1—(AP)—The normally robust south has turned anemic in football this year and the southern the weakest in the land.

The Southeastern, a veritable bowl incubator down through the years, is better than holding its own but is not showing the old time punch. Its bowl candidates are negligible.

Conference Breakdown

Conference	W.	L.	T.	Pct.
Southwest Conference	15	1	7	.763
Ivy League	16	5	0	.762
Pac Coast Conference	18	7	2	.720
Southeastern Conference	18	10	3	.643
Big Seven	12	7	1	.632
Big Ten	10	8	2	.556
Missouri Valley	13	13	2	.500

Football Player In A Critical Condition

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 1—(AP)—Buddy Joe Arensburg, 17-year-old backfield star at Lillis high school here, was in a critical condition at a hospital here from a head injury suffered in a football game Oct. 8.

He collapsed while practicing Oct. 18, after it was believed he had recovered from the earlier injury.

Abolish The Extra Point Says Bell

Would Provide More Scoring Attempts By Teams, Less Stalling

DALLAS, Nov. 1—(AP)—Coach Matty Bell of Southern Methodist, whose team beat Texas 7-6 Saturday has said he still thinks the point after touchdown should be legislated out of football.

Bell advocated abolishing the extra point try several years ago but says he couldn't get any support on the national rules committee of which he now is a member.

"It Isn't Fair," He declared.

"It isn't fair," he declared. "A team can play you on even terms—even be better than you—and score a touchdown the same as you. Yet it loses because one boy kicks the ball between the goal posts and another doesn't."

Bell chose an opportune time to renew his opposition to the extra point. The first time he came out against it was after the 1947 Southern Methodist-Texas game.

"I think if we'd get rid of the point after touchdown we would see better and more thrilling football," he said. "The teams would open up more, try to score touchdowns instead of sitting back and protecting a one-point lead."

Would Keep Place-Kicking

"I wouldn't do away with place-kicking, however. I think the field goal still has a place in football. After all, a team has to carry the ball down there in order to get a chance at a field goal."

He added that there was no greater thrill in football than the field goal. "It is a spectacular thing," Bell said.

Doak Walker's point after touchdown in 1947 knocked Texas out of the Southwest Conference championship. His extra point Saturday knocked Texas out of the conference race.

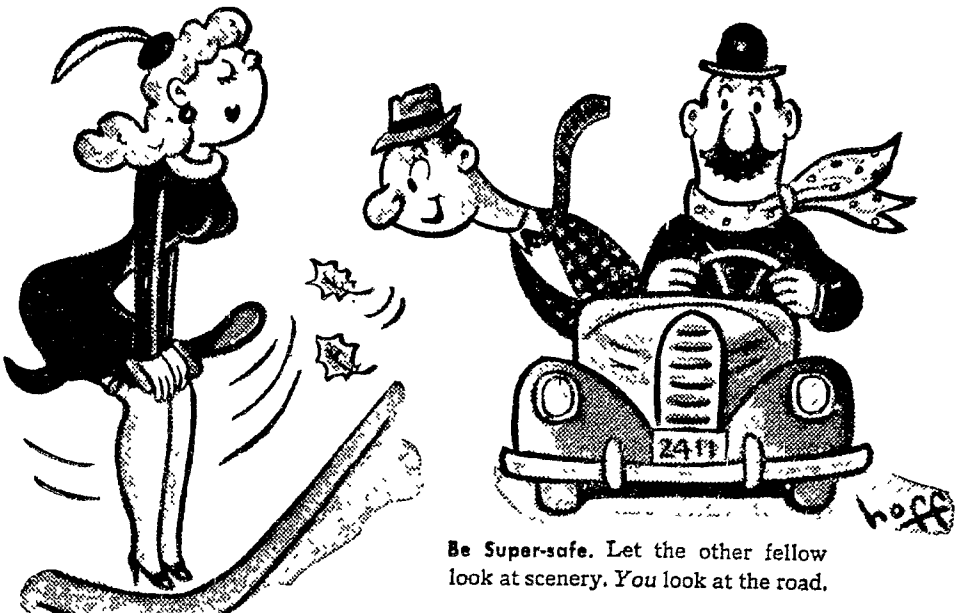

"The only thing Doak did in practice Friday was practice kicking extra points," Bell said. "He tried a dozen. It paid off, of course. But I still think we shouldn't have it in football."

Missouri Pacific Shop News

Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas and son Buddy, left Saturday morning for St. Louis where Mrs. Thomas entered the Missouri Pacific hospital for medical attention. Mr. Thomas is carman welder and former manager of the Junior Legion baseball team.

John Blue has been appointed general machine shop foreman, succeeding the late Connie Michaels.

K. V. Larsen, stripping gang foreman, was called to Parsons, Kas., last week on account of the death of a relative.

Walter Bender, who bid in a foreman's position at Little Rock, Ark., has been transferred back to Sedalia following some supervisory changes.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barrick have returned home after spending a vacation visiting relatives and friends in Washington, D. C., and attending a wedding of their daughter at Parkersburg, West Va. Mr. Barrick is a crane follower.

Ora Stroup, sheet metal worker, who has been a patient of the Missouri Pacific hospital in St. Louis for the past several weeks, is getting along fine but will not be able to return to work for several weeks.

Mrs. William Donoth, wife of machinist, has entered the Missouri Pacific hospital for medical attention. Mr. Donoth who was working for the Katy at Parsons temporarily, returned home and accompanied his wife to St. Louis.

Mrs. David Summers, widow of the late David Summers, who was a pipe fitter at the shops, has returned to her home in Portland, Ore., after spending several weeks visiting relatives and friends in Sedalia.

Engines 49, 5327, 1462 and 1537 which have been overhauled at the shops were released last week for service. Most of these engines were ready for service when the shops closed and it was a matter of inspecting and breaking them in so they would be ready for road service.

Rex Warren, Arthur Bethke, Conrad Stratton and Fred Anton, machinists who have been working for the M. K. T. at Parsons, returned to work at the shops the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Erhart have returned home after spending a few days visiting relatives and friends in Falls City, Neb. Mr. Erhart is a machinist helper. G. C. Morris, Jr., has resumed his duties as electrician apprentice after completing a term of service at the U. S. Navy.

George Hull, carman foreman, is taking a two-weeks vacation.

Good Time At Hallowe'en Celebration

Sedalia Lions Club Sponsored Event At Smith-Cotton Hi

The Smith-Cotton high school auditorium was a haunted house of goblins, witches, clowns and monkeys Monday night. They were there for the annual Hallowe'en party sponsored by the Sedalia Lions club.

The first event on the program this year was a parade which followed a new route. It went down Osage avenue from Third street to Main street from here they went to Ohio avenue and from there to the Smith-Cotton auditorium for the party.

The order of the parade was police escort, mounted escort, Smith-Cotton band, the costumed people and a patrol escort.

Contest Are Held

The first contest was apple bobbing for the 2 year to 5 year age group. The winners of this group were first, Sandra Jo Crow, second, Barbara Jo Adams. The second a contest for the 6 years to the 9 year age group was a cracker eating contest, winners, Billy Harris, first and Ned Kehle and John Cross tied for second.

The next event for the 9 year to the 12 year age group was a little harder. It was the cracker-whistle contest where the contestant had to eat crackers and then whistle. The winners were first, Stella Knatcal and second was James White. There was a third place tie between David Hall and Charlotte Huston.

The fourth contest was for the 12 year and the 17 year age group a pie eating contest. The winners are first, Stella Knatcal and second J. M. Maxwell.

This concluded the first contests and the costume judging was next on program.

Prizes For Costumes

The winners in the costume judging were 2-7 year group, first, Ted Wells, second, Gary Lee Cought, third, Richard Richardson; 7-17 year group, first, Myrna Miller; second, Judy Rissler; third, Margaret Eickhoff, all age couples group, first, Charlotte Huston, and Sue Heckart, second, Gary Voight and Bob Younger Jr., third, Albert Fox and June Byrnes.

The grand judging of all costumes, all ages, took place as the last event on the program. The winners were, first, Ted Wells, second, Gary Lee Voight and Bob Younger Jr., third, Myrna Miller.

Billy Woodard won the only prize for a decorated vehicle.

There was a large and very enthusiastic crowd in attendance at the party with more arriving all the time.

Tree In Memory of Mrs. Sarah Cotton

Monday morning at 9 o'clock Smith-Cotton high school students planted a magnolia tree in memory of Mrs. Sarah E. Cotton who gave the land on which Smith-Cotton high school is built. The ceremony took place in front of the high school building from 9 to 9:17 a. m. with Bill Franklin, senior council president, in charge of the program.

Bob Van Horn made the opening remarks, paying tribute to Mrs. Cotton and he introduced the speaker, Leo Eickhoff who made the dedication address.

Leo Eickhoff Speaks

Eickhoff spoke of Mrs. Cotton's family part in founding Sedalia and how the city came to be named after Mrs. Cotton. He then talked on the living memorial tree and how this tree in years to come would stand as a memorial to Mrs. Cotton and would be a student landmark for many years.

Van Horn then closed the ceremony describing the senior council presidents part in the program while Bill Franklin placed the first spade of dirt around the tree. He closed with the slogan of having this tree stand as a reminder of "honesty, loyalty, and consideration."

The ceremony was viewed by the executive committees or both junior and senior councils. The ceremony was brought to the classes over the high school's public address system.

Five Injured Over A Piece Of Burned Toast

ATLANTA, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Something began to burn at a restaurant. A woman employed smelled it and called the firemen.

A fire truck roared out from its station. In its rush, it barely missed one private truck, jumped a lawn and piled into another truck.

The truck driver and three firemen were hurt.

One of the firemen had a motorcycle patrolman brother. The policeman heard about the wreck and lit out for the hospital to see his brother.

His motorcycle hit and slightly injured a woman.

That made five persons hurt, a fire truck and another truck smashed. And the fire? It was a piece of burning toast.

Gus Likes to Snuggle

Gus, a 275-pound Poland China pig snuggles up to Leon Bach-tell while Mr. and Mrs. Pete Bachtell occupy the rest of the davenport at their farm home near Ailington, Iowa. Raised on a hotel home and loves human companionship. Mrs. Bach-tell says she doesn't mind Gus' visits because he is a clean pig with habits above reproach. When he can't find someone to snuggle, Gus stretches out on a rug and listens to the radio. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Binaggio Is 'Cut-In' For His 'Influence'

Shared In Profits Of Beer Distributing With An Associate

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Two witnesses told a federal grand jury here that Charlie Binaggio, chief contender for control of the old Pendergast political machine, shared in profits from a beer distributing business in exchange for influence, it was disclosed today.

The testimony was given by Nathan L. Bassin, owner of the Duke Sales Company, beer distributing firm, and Max Ducov, a former owner, as witnesses before the grand jury last Friday.

A transcript of their testimony was filed in district court today in connection with contempt citations against the two witnesses.

Each Get 25-Per-Cent

Bassin testified that Binaggio and Tony Gizzo, a Binaggio associate, each received 25 per cent of the Duke Sales Company profits.

"It's their influence that lands customers for me," Bassin testified. "With their contacts and influence and with their cooperation and help I am a successful businessman."

Binaggio, one-time underling of the late "Boss" Tom Pendergast, now controls the Democratic vote in four populous north side city wards. His forces are opposed by a faction of the old group led by Pendergast's nephew, James Pendergast. Binaggio's political influence has been the subject of special articles in two recent issues of national magazines.

Ducov testified that he formerly owned the beer firm, buying it from Gizzo at the suggestion of Binaggio. Ducov told the grand jury he agreed to the arrangement under which Binaggio and Gizzo would take half the profits.

Costly Inaugural Trip

Ducov said he sold the company to Bassin, his brother-in-law, early last year for $2,500 and remained as sales manager. In the next six months the profits were between $18,000 and $20,000.

Gizzo and Binaggio each received $7,500 as their shares for 1947, and $5,000 apiece last year, Ducov testified.

Ducov, under questioning about his income tax payments, told the grand jury he spent $600 or $700 for clothes, including a high silk hat, before attending the inauguration of President Truman.

this year. He testified he spent $3,000 for the trip.

He said he plays gin rummy for a cent a point, and added "It never cost more than $100. I seldom win."

Testifying further concerning his activities, Ducov said "I'm in what you call a hand-book operation, baseball and football with a fellow named Dave Krame."

St. Louis Architect Employed By State

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Marcel Boulicault, a St. Louis architect was selected late Monday by the state board of public buildings to prepare plans for a new state office building.

More than 35 architectural firms seeking the contract were considered by the board before the selection was announced.

Boulicault has designed and prepared plans for a number of state institutions and other buildings. He also has prepared plans for bridge approaches crossing the Mississippi river from St. Louis county.

The board's action in the selection of Boulicault was unanimous. Members of the board are Gov. Forrest Smith, Lieut. Gov. James T. Blair, Jr., and Attorney General J. E. Taylor.

Earlier today the board heard representatives of the Governor's Hotel who want to use some of the same Capitol avenue frontage sought by the state. The hotel wants to build an addition on its present parking lot, part of which the state wants to take for the $3,000,000 office building.

A New Attack On Missouri's Interest Rate

Want Violators Of 8-Per Cent Interest Law Reported Upon

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 1.—(AP)—A new attack on Missouri's perennial interest rate problem was launched Monday in the state Senate.

Sen. William M. Quinn (D) of Maywood introduced a resolution asking the state finance commissioner to report on violations of the present law with its maximum eight per cent interest top.

"Everyone seems agreed we should have an interest code," Quinn explained. "But there is wide disagreement as to the rate. If the finance commissioner can collect this information about law violations, maybe we'll have something to go on."

First Report December 1

Quinn said that if the finance commissioner cannot find out how lenders are violating the eight per cent rate—"and we all know they're doing it"—the Senate might be forced to conduct a formal investigation.

If the resolution is adopted, it would require the finance commissioner to make his first monthly report by Dec. 10.

Quinn asked that the resolution be printed. He said he would call it up for action later.

As things stand, a joint House-Senate conference committee has agreed on an interest bill carrying a rate estimated at 25 to 30 per cent a year on loans up to $500. The House, however, has refused to approve this plan.

When the House recessed ten days ago, there were indications another effort would be made later to push the plan through.

Gayle's swallowed a bobby pin!

When her two-year-old daughter swallowed a bobby pin late one evening, Mrs. Chenoweth rushed to the telephone—and this series of calls followed. She says that she wouldn't even try to guess what these calls were really worth to her. But she can tell you what her actual cost was—less than 2¢ each! Mrs. Chenoweth knows the cost because she kept an accurate record of all her telephone conversations, then checked it against her monthly bill. "I never realized before," she reports, "how much the telephone helps me run our house, keep in touch with our friends and meet emergencies. It's a real bargain!"

To Mrs. Chenoweth's verdict, may we add: We're doing our best to make your telephone service a real bargain today . . . and to keep it growing in value every year. Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

What else gives so much for so little?

Called Gayle's doctor. But he isn't home!

Got our family doctor. Gayle's not choking, so no real danger!

Made an appointment early next morning for an X-ray.

Home from X-ray. Called my husband. Gayle's fine!

Gayle's doctor called. Bring her in for X-ray in the morning.

The phone rang the rest of the day—the family and friends calling to ask about Gayle. Everyone's so nice!
